Economy Bloc in Senate Sees O. K. For WPA Measure

Opposition to New Deal Plan Spreads In Congress

CURB POLITICS

Restrictions Included in Measure Approved By House

Washington—(AP)—Democratic insurgency against the administration's relief program spread to the senate today after the rebellious house had lopped $150,000,000 from the appropriation asked by President Roosevelt to finance WPA for the next five months.

Leaders of the senate's economy bloc predicted that the $725,000,000 fund voted by the house would win senate approval, probably late next week, despite the president's request for $875,000,000.

The house passed the relief bill last night, 397 to 16, after an informal coalition of Republicans and many Democrats had reduced its amount and incorporated prohibitions against political activities in the WPA.

This first major legislative action in the new congress was interpreted widely as evidence that the election-strengthened Republicans working with a substantial bloc of Democrats, might curtail other phases of the president's spending program.

Roosevelt Proposal
Mr. Roosevelt had advocated that the appropriation be made without strings and that congress take further time in which to work out legislation against politics in relief.

Instead the house wrote these provisions into the measure:

That none of the money should be paid to pay WPA officials and administrative employees under the civil service — this to forestall a presidential order blanketing thousands of them into the civil service Feb. 1.

That for the same of comparable work in different states the WPA could not vary relief wages more than 25 per cent.

That none of the money could be used to pay salaries or benefits to any official or beneficiary who tried to influence the vote of a WPA worker. This amounted to a statement of policy, since no elections are scheduled in the five-month period.

That no relief funds be paid to aliens.

That the WPA reverse a recent order and continue on work relief men and women over 65, all of whom the WPA had classified as unemployable and ordered turned over to local relief agencies. This order was to be effective Jan. 31.

San Hosiery Mills
That the farm security administration be prevented from using any of the money to establish hosiery mills on federal homesteads.

Passage of the relief bill cleared the house decks of legislation ready for immediate action. Leaders expected only routine meetings the first half of next week.

The senate faced a busy schedule, however, having yet to act upon the nominations of Harry L. Hopkins to be secretary of commerce, Prof. Felix Frankfurter to be a member of the supreme court, and Frank Murphy to be attorney general.

Echoes of a senate committee's investigation of Hopkins' qualifications for the commerce post were heard during house debate on the relief appropriation.

Representative Dirksen (R-Ill.) recalled that the former WPA administrator had said some WPA supervisors had mixed in politics in Kentucky "ought to have been fired." His statement came during discussion of the president's order to blanket supervisory employees of the work relief organization into the civil service.

Hisses vs. Over Ripe Tomatoes
A news item states that "In Japanese custom, hissing is a sign of extreme politeness." Some of our political aspirants would find that custom a very welcome one when speaking before an unsympathetic audience. And think of the "ham actors" who would have been saved much embarrassment when "foreclosing the mortgage on the old homestead." However, no doubt the Japanese have some other manner of showing displeasure—perhaps a harmless gesture like throwing tomatoes or slightly stale eggs. We'll take hisses!

ADMITS SHOOTING DR. MORDOFF

John Quinn (right), the brother-in-law of Dr. Gordon E. Mordoff, was held by police as the confessed slayer of the prominent, elderly physician. Quinn is shown with Assistant State's Attorney Leslie Curtis as he identified the weapon used in shooting Dr. Mordoff in the doctor's Wilmette, Ill., office.

Storm Brings Snow and Cold To Area From Atlantic Ocean To Rockies; Heavy Traffic Toll

Old Man Winter was apparently still in earnest today about making up for the shortage of snow in Appleton and vicinity during the earlier part of this month.

The old man started a bombardment of big, soft snowflakes yesterday morning. Early this afternoon the flakes had diminished in size, the old man was still feeding ammunition to the clouds.

The snow piled high on tops of cars and buildings, re-filled city streets that lay bare most of last week, brought out overshoes and rubbers, and made driving a bit on the messy side. More snow tonight and much colder tomorrow is the forecast for this area issued today by the Milwaukee weather bureau.

Although the recent warm spell removed much ice on northern Wisconsin highways, there are still many dangerous stretches, according to a report of the state highway department received today by Arnold Krueger, county highway commissioner.

Slippery in South
Compacted snow from yesterday and today's fall is causing slippery areas on highways in the southern part of the state and frost heaves

'Doc' Barker Is Fatally Wounded

One-Time Public Enemy No. 1 Succumbs in Alcatraz Prison

San Francisco—(AP)—Like his "ma" before him, Arthur "Doc" Barker was dead from federal bullets today — the victim of a futile break from the United States penitentiary on Alcatraz island.

The 40-year-old son of the late "Ma" Barker, who with one of "Doc's" brothers was killed in a Florida battle with government men, died in the Alcatraz prison hospital last night.

The leader of the Barker-Karpis gang, once rated as public enemy No. 1, was the most notorious of five convicts who attempted to escape the island penitentiary early yesterday.

A second was reported near death as Federal Prison Director James V. Bennett flew toward San Francisco to take over investigation into the fourth escape attempt at Alcatraz, the third known to have taken a convict's life.

Dale Staphill, 27, Oklahoma kidnaper, shot with Barker by guards when they resisted capture on the island beach, was in critical condition in the prison hospital — an artery severed by a guard's bullet.

Warden James A. Johnston investigated the break secretly pending Bennett's arrival. Coroner's deputies were not admitted to the island to take off Barker's body. Instead it was delivered by prison boat to a waiting deputy at Fort Mason on the mainland. The coroner's "investigation" into the death will be entirely prison-conducted — the result to be mailed in Coroner T. B. W. Leiland by the warden today.

WPA Increase Is Opposed by Badger GOP Congressmen

Progressives, However, Support $150,000,000 Boost in Fund

BY RUBY A. BLACK

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau
Washington—Wisconsin Republican congressmen opposed increase of WPA funds from $725,000,000, as proposed by the appropriations committee, to $875,000,000, as suggested by the president, while the two remaining Progressives supported the increase.

This was the first important vote of the session and therefore of special interest.

Wisconsin Republicans also were understood to have supported the Republican amendment to appropriate $350,000,000 to last until April 1, instead of the $725,000,000 to last through June 30.

Rep. Bernard J. Gehrmann, Meilen Progressive, voted for Rep. Marcanion's amendment to the $875,000,000 amendment of Rep. Cannon, Missouri Democrat. Rep. Vito Marcanion, New York American Labor party member asked for $915,000,000. A large number of mayors had reported that this amount was the minimum required for WPA.

Rep. Frank B. Keefe, Oshkosh Republican, made his maiden

Truck Driver Fatally Hurt in Brown County

Green Bay—(AP)—Roma Leick, 54, Greenleaf Truck, died in a hospital this morning of internal injuries received last Friday when his truck crashed him against a fence post. He had alighted to talk to another driver, county police were told, when the truck began rolling backward. He attempted to get in the cab and right it, but was caught when it capsized in the ditch. Survivors include the widow and a ten-month-old child.

Dolores Cleemann, 6, is in a critical condition with a fractured skull received when struck by a truck driven by Frederick H. Muck. Angelica, while crossing the road on her way home from school yesterday afternoon.

Week's Weather

Chicago—(AP)—Weather outlook for the period Jan. 16 to 21:
Great Lakes—Rather cold first part of week, probably warmer latter part; not much precipitation indicated first of week, but snow probable within latter part.

Upper Mississippi and lower Missouri valleys and the northern and central great plains—Temperatures mostly below normal beginning of week, followed by warmer middle or before close; not much precipitation indicated until latter part, when snow likely north portion and snow or rain south portion.

France Fears New Crisis Is Due in Europe

Anxious Over Increasing Italian Influence on Southern Border

TALKS ARE FUTILE

Chamberlain Fails to Reach Important Agreement in Rome

Paris—(AP)—Fears of a new European crisis troubled France today as British Prime Minister Chamberlain started home from his "appeasement talks" in Rome apparently without having reached any important agreement with Premier Mussolini.

France, at odds with Italy over fascist colonial demands, was anxious over the increasing danger of border as the Spanish insurgents' Italian influence on her southern drive forced steadily closer to Barcelona. Also alarming to Paris were unconfirmed reports of new Italian troops concentrations in East Africa.

British circles in Rome disclosed that it duce had agreed to help efforts to solve the perplexing problem of finding homes for Europe's unwelcome Jews. This was seen as the sole concrete achievement of the visit. Discussions of the French-Italian strife, Spain, Italy's interest in the Mediterranean, disarmament and economic questions evidently produced no substantial decisions.

France Advances
In Spain, Generalissimo Francisco Franco's armies reported they had stormed hastily-constructed government defenses within 12 miles of Tarragona, important Catalanian seaport, and pressed relentlessly toward Tarragona and Barcelona. They reported the capture of Valls, government air-base north of Tarragona.

The government, trying to halt the insurgent steam-roller, launched a counter-offensive in the Madrid sector to divert some of Franco's power from Catalonia and mustered men and material for a new defense line shielding Barcelona should Tarragona fall.

In Berlin, Nazi newspapers jubilantly welcomed Hungary in the German-Italian-Japanese anti-communist pact while the semi-official mouthpiece of the German foreign office took a thrust at the United States.

The Deutsche Diplomatische-Politische Korrespondenz said "the communist menace in the United States is one of the major perils threatening the world today."

It declared that "baneful influences of the friends of Moscow in the United States, which assert themselves even in speeches by members of its government, show in what danger the world is standing."

Found Guilty of Evading Taxes
Former Newsboy Convicted of Failure to Pay $36,250

Chicago—(AP)—Abraham F. Zimmerman, 37, a former newsboy who made a fortune selling lottery tickets, was convicted by a federal court jury today of evading $36,250 in income taxes.

Deliberating 12 hours, the jurors decided Zimmerman had evaded taxes on his 1930 and 1931 incomes, aggregating $36,250. They acquitted him of a third count which charged evasion of $26,000 in taxes on his 1929 income of $135,720.

Each of the counts provides for maximum punishment of five years in jail and a fine of $10,000. Pending arguments Wednesday on a motion for a new trial, Zimmerman was permitted to remain at liberty under his $25,000 bond.

His defense was concentrated principally on the contention that he had paid his taxes and that the 1929 charge was outlawed by the statute of limitations.

In presenting its case, the government pictured Zimmerman as king of the lottery business from the eastern seaboard to the Mississippi river, with large bank accounts in Cleveland and Chicago under the name of Joseph White.

Chief Zimmerman became prosperous he was the proprietor of a south side news-stand.

Hint Administration Favors Removing Legislative Limit On Size of Army Air Corps

Washington—(AP)—A proposal in congress to authorize an army air force of 6,000 planes produced an authoritative hint today that the administration favored removing all legislative limits on the corps' size.

Chairman May D. Keey of the house military committee said he would propose the new limit next week, in response to President Roosevelt's recommendation the army air force be expanded as soon as possible by at least 3,000 aircraft.

Reliable administration sources reported, however, that army spokesmen would ask congress instead to "make the sky the limit, so far as authorizations are concerned."

Congressional authorizations are distinct from actual appropriations.

Badger Senate Repeals Reorganization Shifts Of LaFollette Regime

Four Persons Perish in Crash Of Large Airplane in Montana Shortly After 'Normal Takeoff'

Miles City, Mont.—(AP)—The flaming crash of a Northwest Airlines plane, carrying four persons to their death two miles west of Miles City, left investigators with a tragic puzzle to solve today.

All of the plane's occupants died instantly in the crash last night. The answer to the puzzle possibly lay in the wreckage of the plane, scattered in a coulee a mile west of the municipal airport from which the plane just had made a "normal takeoff."

While airline and civil aeronautics authorities investigators sped here by plane from Minneapolis, the air safety board announced in Washington it had assigned three men to make the official inquiry. The board dispatched Tom Hardin, board member, and Frank Caldwell, chief investigator, from Washington by plane and said Phil Salzman, of the board's Los Angeles office, would come here from the coast.

Body Not Removed
Coroner Ralph H. Bray said the body of Mrs. Morgan Morris of Mandan, N. D., was burned so horribly it was not removed when the bodies of the other victims, all men, were taken out last midnight. One body was hurled 100 feet from the wreckage.

The St. Paul-to-Seattle plane burst into flames and crashed in the Sunday creek bottomslands west of the Miles City airport at 8:15 p. m. (C.S.T.).

L. H. Bliven, airport manager, and several Miles City residents reported the explosion flashed a bright, eerie light across an overcast sky. A light rain had been falling in an near-freezing temperature.

H. V. Hewitt, Northwest Airlines employee, left the plane at Miles City to visit his parents at Terry, Mont.

Hewitt said at the home of his father, A. O. Hewitt, that he had had no misgivings regarding the flight but had left the plane at Miles City after Pilot Chamberlain told him that "from the looks of the weather" the flight likely would be halted at Billings. He said he preferred a visit with his parents to a night layover at Billings.

'Foul Play' Seen In Death of Man Found on Tracks
Coroner Believes Victim Dead Before Locomotive Hit Body

Peoria, Ill.—(AP)—The body of a Saukville, Wis., canner was found on the Rock Island railroad tracks today and Coroner Harold Diller of Peoria county said he suspected the man had been the victim of "foul play."

The man, well dressed, was identified by papers, Dr. Diller said, as John W. Gross, Jr., of Grafton, Wis., proprietor of a canning factory at Saukville. Dr. Diller said the papers indicated he was the son of John W. Gross of Milwaukee, head of the Gross Cold company.

Dr. Diller said Peter Whelan, switch engineer of the railroad, told him he saw the body under the Cedar street bridge, a dark secluded spot near the river, but was unable to halt his slowly moving engine before striking it.

The coroner said he agreed with Whelan's belief that the apparent injury, a severed leg, would not have caused death by the time the engine crew reached him.

Police said Gross had left home three days ago. His pockets were empty except for a few papers and a key to a new automobile. The car has not been found.

Missouri Police Dispersing Group Told to Break Up Demonstration of Over 1,000 Sharecroppers

New Madrid, Mo.—(AP)— Acting under orders of the state health commissioner, the Missouri state highway patrol moved today to break up a demonstration of more than 1,000 sharecroppers occupying snow and rain-soaked camps along two major highways.

After a survey of the camps by Dr. Henry Parker, state health commissioner, Colonel B. Marvin Castee, superintendent of the highway patrol, and Captain A. D. Sheppard of the patrol, Dr. Parker announced the situation "constituted a menace to public health."

State police were instructed to remove the men, women and children, forcibly if necessary.

Colonel Castee said he expected no trouble in carrying out the order. Landowners, Castee said, have agreed to permit sharecroppers who originally tenanted their farms to return.

Those who could not prove they were tenant farmers in this area were to be taken to a government building at Charleston and turned over to county authorities.

Colonel Castee said reports indicated a large percentage of the demonstrators were not actually sharecroppers, but were cotton pickers from Arkansas, Kentucky and Tennessee.

The sharecroppers, mostly Negroes, spent the fourth night in the open air, stubbornly refusing to budge from the sites they have occupied since they trekked to the highways in protest against their economic plight.

Aid to Railroads Expected to Wait For Other Bills

House Leaders Give Tacit Approval of Principles of Plan

Washington—(AP)—Administration leaders in the house tacitly endorsed principles of proposed legislation to aid the railroads today, but they indicated other problems would receive congressional consideration first.

Informed persons said that, although President Roosevelt spoke in his annual message to congress of the necessity of "ameliorating" the general transportation problem, he had not asked his leaders on Capitol Hill to rush any rail aid program to passage.

Chairman Lea (D-Calif.) of the house interstate commerce committee introduced a bill yesterday which he said should enable the carriers to operate on a "self-supporting basis." Hearings on this proposal are scheduled to start Tuesday.

Proposals in Bill
It calls for: Reorganization of the interstate commerce commission. Extension of its jurisdiction to all types of interstate transportation. Authority for the I.C.C. to fix minimum rates and fares.

Authority for the carriers, rather than the commission, to originate reorganizations and consolidation proceedings. Labor and equipment loans to the railroads from the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Establishment of a special railroad reorganization board. The commission would be increased from the present 11 members to 19, and instead of all the members handling rate, finance and appeal problems, they would be divided into three groups.

Autoist Hurt in Crash at Crossing Car Skids in Front of Train; New London Man in Hospital

New London—Norman Knorr, 25, was seriously injured at 12:40 this afternoon when his car was struck by a North Western railway freight car at a crossing on old Highway 54 about a quarter mile north of the city's business section.

Knorr was taken to Community hospital suffering cuts on his face and head, a bruised chest, and probable internal injuries. The attending physician said he believed the young man will recover.

Knorr was traveling east and the train was moving south into the city when the crash occurred. He told the doctor he tried to stop, but his car skidded. When he accelerated his car to beat the train past the crossing, the wheels slipped on the ice and snow and the car and train rolled.

The car was carried 30 feet and thrown down from an 8-foot embankment. Members of the train crew took Knorr from the wreckage and placed him in the caboose until the doctor arrived. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Knorr, North Water street.

English Actress Will Play Scarlett O'Hara
Hollywood—(AP)—Vivien Leigh, the young English actress who will play the part of the southern lass, Scarlett O'Hara, in the screen dramatization of "Gone With the Wind," was "terribly nervous" today, but at the same time "grateful beyond words."

She was signed to the role last night for which a host of actresses and socialites have been mentioned. "I came over here on a holiday, little dreaming I would be so terribly lucky," she smiled. "I am grateful beyond words at the tremendous confidence placed in me and my fondest ambition is to make good. If I can it will be the greatest satisfaction of my life."

WONT SEEK REELECTION
Oshkosh, Wis.—(AP)—Mayor C. A. Wierzbinski, who has held office the last four years, disclosed yesterday he would not seek reelection in the spring.

'Poison Ring' Probe Witness Bound and Beaten by Three Men
Philadelphia—(AP)—George Myers, 35-year-old chief witness in an investigation of a three-state "poison ring," was found bound and beaten near a snow-covered lot early today, just a week after he had received threatening letters.

He told police he was attacked by three men who forced him into an automobile last night. He said his assailants bound his arms and legs with rope, sealed his lips with tape, and warned him to "leave town."

Myers managed to free himself and ran onto a nearby street where a motorist found him. Detectives said they had planned to question him further today in connection with the "poison ring," blamed for the deaths of at least four persons, including one boy, Police believe members of the ring, operating in Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersey, poisoned their victims to collect insurance.

Three persons are under arrest, charged with murder and conspiracy.

2 Men Shot to Death In Kentucky Gun Fight
Harlan, Ky.—(AP)—John D. Gilliam, 40, night chief of police at Cumberland, and Marvin Shepherd, 32, a miner, were shot to death last night and Sheriff Herbert Carwood said today the men killed each other. Each was shot three times.

Carwood said the shooting occurred in a restaurant at Cumberland, 22 miles east of here. The sheriff reported the shooting took place when Gilliam went into the restaurant and Shepherd jumped up from a table with the words "they're coming after me," Shepherd, according to the sheriff, had been drinking.

Gilliam had been on the police force six years.

2 Progressives Help Clear Way for Final Action

VOTE IS 20 TO 11

Goodland's Ruling Also Helps Assure Prompt Ballot

Madison—(AP)—The state senate, by a vote of 20 to 11, today repealed all of the 26 governmental reorganization shifts enacted by executive order under former Governor Philip LaFollette.

The Republican-Democratic majority, with its ranks intact, performed what some members described as a funeral service over the major section of the 1937 reorganization act under which the last legislature delegated broad powers to the executive.

As soon as legal formalities are completed all departments transferred to new jurisdiction or newly created will revert to their former status, as the disapproval of the senate alone is sufficient to invalidate the orders.

Action Assures Vote
The willingness of two Progressives, Senators Joseph McDermid, Ladysmith, and A. J. Connors, Barron, to vote for suspension of the rules enabled the majority to dispose of the controversial issue today.

A ruling by Lieutenant Governor Walter S. Goodland, upholding the point of order by Senator Maurice Coakley, (R), Beloit, that the repeal resolution could not be amended or divided, likewise expedited the final vote.

The Progressive bloc was prepared with a batch of amendments which might have required separate consideration of each of the 26 executive orders. Republican leaders expressed fear that prolonged discussion of amendments might prevent final action within the required 10-day period.

In view of the ultimate adoption of the resolution, Senator McDermid, who was among those voting against it, said he could see nothing to be gained by delay since the reorganization act gave a bare majority of either house the right to disapprove of any changes.

Amendment Attempts
He said it was evident that a final vote would be taken Monday in any event.

Efforts to amend the resolution were launched by Senator Michael F. Fresky (P), of Green Bay, starting off with the first of the executive orders which transferred the securities division from the public service to the banking commission.

He declared there was much merit in this transfer and in other changes which warranted consideration and approval.

Although there were no precedents to guide him, Lieutenant Governor Goodland said he anticipated the issue would be raised and had made a study which led him to believe the repeal resolution could not be amended without altering the intent of the author, Senator Kenneth White, (R), River Falls.

Republicans and Democrats alike declared that automatic elimination of the executive orders does not bar future deliberation on any changes believed to be worthwhile and that they are ready to consider bills re-instating parts of the reorganization program after "adequate public hearings."

Sensors engaged in a political field day which consumed more than two hours of debate.

Bolens View
Senator Harry Bolens, (D), Port Washington, asserted the legislature ought to wipe out every act of the special session of 1937 and "if there is any good in that mess, submit new bills and invite the public to be heard."

Senator Oscar Paulson, (P), LaCrosse, charged that the Republicans were making a "poor start" on

Ernest Hemingway Knocks Down Broker In New York Club

New York—(AP)—Ernest Hemingway's reputation as a two-fisted author pursued him into the precincts of the Stock club early today, and a man whose friends identified him as a broker stepped a fast one to the chin.

Hemingway was sitting with a group when the stranger stumbled against his chair and said: "So you're Hemingway, huh? Tough guy, huh?"

He started rubbing his hands over Hemingway's face. The master of incisive prose, authority on bull fighting, and fisherman protested politely.

Quentin Reynolds, one of his companions, smilingly offered this piece of advice: "Sock him, but don't draw blood." Hemingway swung. The broker dropped.

State Education Control System Up for Revision

Heil Indicates He Favors Complete Reorganization of Schools

BY JOHN W. WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—The powerful administration force in senate and assembly who hungrily leaped to the attack of Phil LaFollette's reorganization program in their first sessions this week will discover soon that their leader, Julius P. Heil, has himself proposed a reorganization measure which is just as controversial and almost as far-reaching as the LaFollette pattern of governmental reshuffling.

Governor Heil in his first official word to the legislature a few days ago revived the state department of education idea, under which all state educational activities would be pulled together under a single directing head, and which has been before the legislature at intervals for about ten years.

The new executive in his brief message did not go into detail, but suggested that he supports those students of the educational system who have long held that centralization of administration of the state school system is advisable.

Set Up New Board
Legislative leaders have not yet discussed the contents of the governor's message with the view of introducing his suggestions in bill form, but representative administration leaders indicated immediately that the executive will favor the introduction of a bill, which failed several times in previous sessions, to set up a new state board of education, an administrator probably to be called a commissioner, and the abolition of the present office of superintendent of public instruction, by constitutional amendment.

The commissioner would be responsible to the board, in contrast to the present superintendent who is elected by the people and therefore independent of any control by other state officers.

Senator E. F. Roethke, president pro tem of the state senate and chairman of the committee on education in the upper house, feels that such a proposal may pass the legislature in the 1939 session, assuming the support of Governor Heil.

Roethke introduced a bill following such pattern in the 1937 session, but it was defeated. Once it passed the senate, but won no support from Governor LaFollette.

That bill would have abolished presently independent educational boards, such as the University of Wisconsin board of regents, the board of regents of the state normal schools, and others, and would have operated all educational institutions wholly by state funds and policies of the general educational system.

Special bureaus would have been set up within the department of education for the management of vocational education, for the teachers college, the state university, the library services, special education for the blind, deaf, the industrial school, and the state public school, for elementary and high school education and whatever other purposes might be necessary.

Education Opposed
One of the reasons for the defeat of the bill in previous sessions legislative sessions has been the violent opposition of some of the state educational officials affected by it. One of them is George Hambrecht of the state department of vocational education, who appeared to feel that lumping of his department into the general state educational system for administrative purposes would be harmful.

Teachers colleges are also likely to be disturbed about being governed by a department which also runs the state university, while other departments, traditionally autonomous will naturally view with alarm the prospect of new management.

There is also a certain bureaucratic opposition which is inevitable. Department heads who are now in complete command under the new system would become subordinates of the new commissioner of education, and it is even possible that some of them might lose their jobs.

That the problem of educational organization has not been forgotten, however, is shown by the frequent discussions of it by civic groups and professional students of state affairs. This week too, the special legislative committee report on the subject, drafted by order of the 1928 legislature under the administration of Governor Walter J. Kohler, was submitted to the session of 1937.

Senator Roethke was the chairman of a committee, bi-partisan, which called for a complete renovation of the state educational system because, it said, "Wisconsin had reached its educational cross-roads."

"Many are under the impression," the committee observed, "that Wisconsin is merely drifting aimlessly and lacks any comprehensive forward looking educational program. Tax burdens for education are becoming unbearable. Real property taxes are carrying too great a portion of the load. Social and economic changes during the past twenty-five years have made our local system of school woefully inadequate to cooperate with modern conditions. Friction, rivalry, duplication and waste are terms too often applied in describing the various educational boards and committees."

At that time the committee pointed out that eight major state departments, boards and committees were responsible for administering the state school system. Besides there were 24 minor boards for educational activities.

The committee concluded that there were "numerous duplications, excessive overhead, pointless rivalry, minimum standards, and misplaced emphasis—all on the one hand—and on the other, the complete absence of an inclusive, continuous educational program prepared by a responsible leader."

It called for a complete reorganization to end the "tangled confusion" and warned against "political parties or political compromises."

But in the succeeding ten years little has been done to carry out the committee's recommendations.

New Deal Leads Away From Democracy Goal, Sen. Wiley Asserts

New York—(AP)—Leverett Saltonstall, the newly-elected Republican governor of Massachusetts, said today the November elections had demonstrated the nation's "renewed confidence" that the "Republican label is a guarantee of a liberal, progressive type of government, rather than a government of reaction."

Saltonstall, Senator Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin and Congressman Karl Mundt of South Dakota prepared addresses for the eighteenth annual luncheon of the Women's National Republican club. Wiley and Mundt also are new Republican officeholders.

Wiley, saying the Republican organization was "alive to the national, to the economic, social and humanitarian responsibilities which a modern political party must carry," asserted New Deal policies, "are leading us away from, rather than toward, the objectives of an industrial democracy."

"Our immediate problem—unless we are communists or fascists—is to show how the march to these objectives can be resumed within the framework of our political democracy," he added.

Mundt asserted the "New Dealers" of today were "preaching the very tenets of centralized control." "It is important to bear in mind that in our attempt to create more income for the underprivileged, we do not destroy incomes for all," Wiley said.

Church Officers To be Seated at Sunday Services

Institutions Scheduled For Emmanuel, St. John Parishes

Officers of Emmanuel Evangelical and St. John Evangelical and Reformed churches will be installed at services Sunday morning in the respective churches.

At Emmanuel Evangelical church the service will begin at 10:30 and officers of the church as well as Sunday school teachers will be seated. The Rev. G. H. Blum, pastor, will preach on the theme, "What We Believe." Church officers as well as officers of the various church organizations will be installed at the English service at 10:15 Sunday morning at St. John church. The Rev. A. Guenther, pastor, will speak on "The Abundance of Grace."

"When God Seems Not to Care" is the subject of the sermon to be given by the Rev. Robert K. Bell, pastor of Memorial Presbyterian, Sunday morning at his church. At First Methodist church Dr. Harry C. Culver, pastor, will speak on "The Sermon Perfect." Dr. John B. Hanna, pastor of First Congregational church, will discuss "The Inside of the Cup" at the worship service tomorrow morning at his church. Dr. Hanna's college group will meet at the Methodist church Sunday evening to hear a discussion of "Socialized Medicine" for which Dr. C. D. Neidhold will be adult consultant.

The annual banquet of Holy Name society of St. Joseph's church will take place at 5:30 Sunday evening in the parish hall. Guest speaker will be the Rev. Celestine Bittle, O. M. Cap., Milwaukee, formerly of Appleton.

"Preparing Memories" is the topic of the sermon to be given by the Rev. D. E. Bosserman at Trinity English Lutheran church Sunday morning. At First English Lutheran church the Rev. F. C. Reuter, pastor, will preach on "Whosoever Believeth in Christ Shall Not be Ashamed," while at St. Paul Lutheran church the Rev. F. M. Brandt, pastor, will preach the English service on "Caring the Name of Christ Means Great Responsibility," and the Rev. T. J. Sauer, honorary pastor, will speak in German on "Jesus, der Knecht Gottes."

Sermon on Marriage
The Rev. R. E. Ziesemer, pastor of Mt. Olive Lutheran church, will speak at his church tomorrow morning on "When Will Your Married Life be a Most Happy One?" "Marks of the Master" will be the subject of the sermon by the Rev. H. B. Spangler at First Baptist church.

BLOCK ALCATRAZ ESCAPE PLOT

The above five hardened convicts, including the notorious Arthur (Doc) Barker, made a desperate attempt to escape from fog-shrouded Alcatraz Island and reached the water's edge before guards shot and wounded two of them and captured the others. Barker (upper right) was shot through the head and leg and wounded critically. Dale Stampfill (upper left) was shot through both legs. The others (bottom row, left to right): Rufus McCain, William Martin and Henri Young.

speech on the bill, but devoted all the time allotted to him to discussion of the November Republican victory in Wisconsin.

He had expected to say he hoped congress would "attack the fundamental problems that are the cause of unemployment and give encouragement to business, industry and the investing public."

"If those who are now on WPA are thrown back on the local governments, the expenses, in Wisconsin, will become a direct charge against all real property in the state and real estate can bear no increase in tax burden," Keefe said.

"Under WPA it can at least be said that the ultimate repayment will come from the direct and indirect taxes that all of the people, including the recipients of relief, will ultimately have to pay."

"I shall vote to maintain WPA in the present emergency, but I trust that the appropriation may be limited so as to permit of an immediate investigation by the congress and the establishment of rules and regulations by the congress that will clarify, re-organize and revitalize, if you please, this emergency department of the government."

An amendment proposed by Rep. John C. Schafer, Milwaukee Republican, to prohibit employment upon WPA of any worker on strike against a private plant, was overwhelmingly voted down. Indeed, he was heckled so when he proposed his amendment that, even with his "bull of Bashan" voice, he could hardly be heard in the galleries.

It has always been a federal relief policy that nobody should be denied relief if he was on strike, but few strikers have been given customarily provided strike-relief funds, and because only the needy are certified as available for federal relief.

Refugees Homeless as Permits are Canceled
Montevideo, Uruguay—(AP)—Three hundred Jewish refugees were stranded today—apparently unable to return to Germany and Italy whence they came or to proceed to Paraguay, their destination, because of a change in immigration regulations.

President Alfredo Baldomir ordered a special cabinet meeting for Monday to study the plight of the refugees, who disembarked yesterday from the Italian liner Conte Grande, having learned when they were almost within sight of their promised land that the Paraguayan government suddenly had canceled all immigration permits which Paraguayan consuls aboard had given since the end of November.

Mrs. Mary Masarous entered the General hospital at Madison this week for the removal of a cancer on one eye.

Mrs. Louise Bartel and Mrs. Sophia Finck are confined to their homes by illness.

A total of $10,199.67 is to be collected in taxes in the village of Fremont and the rate of taxation is $27.10 per $1,000. The assessed valuation of property is $388,555. Benjamin Pitt, village treasurer, is receiving the payments at his home except Tuesdays when he will be at the local bank beginning Jan. 17 and up to March 14.

Ray Brooks, town treasurer, is to collect $10,970.11 in taxes in the town of Fremont for 1939. The assessed valuation of property is $387,551 and the rate is $18.10 per $1,000 county tax $5.61267, state tax $10.087, local tax for school purposes $1.81173, besides the extra run of tax roll, noxious weeds and bekeepers. Collections started Thursday at the bank and will continue every Thursday until March 15.

Congress Can No Longer be Called A 'Rubber-Stamp'

Lawrence Sees Better Relationship Between Government Branches

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington—This is certainly an independent-minded congress. The charge of "rubber-stamp" can no longer be made, and, if the truth be known, it probably will result in a much better relationship between the executive and legislative branches of the government from the standpoint of both.

The action of the house in scrutinizing the relief appropriations is significant of a general desire to examine government expenses carefully. Undoubtedly, as far as relief operations are concerned, the lopping off of $150,000,000 from an $875,000,000 appropriation cannot impair the relief machinery and, if it turns out that more money is needed later and business recovery has not materialized, congress can always decide to supply the deficiency.

Broadly speaking, however, the fact that the house of representatives is paring down expenses is a healthy sign. It is apparent that the members of the house feel that "relief" was a central issue of the last campaign and that the voters last November were impressed with the charges that relief had grown so cumbersome as to permit various evils to creep in.

Concern in Senate
The examination of Harry Hopkins, nominated secretary of commerce, shows that, on the senate side, relief is also of major concern, and that, when amendments are drafted to forbid political activity, they will be voted overwhelmingly. Mr. Hopkins himself said he believed the senate should have passed the Hatch amendment at the last session. It will be recalled that this proposal would have forbidden political officials from participating in political campaigns and that the measure failed by a narrow margin.

That very defeat, however, helped to crystallize sentiment. So also did the senate committee report investigating campaign expenditures, headed by the veteran Senator Sheppard, Democrat, of Texas. It can hardly be denied by Democrats or Republicans that the persistent campaign of criticism carried on by the press of the country against irregularities in relief has finally where members of congress feel they are on the popular side when they vote to forbid politics in relief and when they seek to cut down relief expenses.

Higher Estimate
There have been rumors that the administration made a higher estimate than was absolutely necessary when it figured out what would be needed for WPA, and that hence the cutting down was not unexpected. There have been reports, too, that the anticipated income was underestimated by about $400,000,000 in the budget figures and this may mean that there is room for further economies, but that the administration would prefer to let congress take full responsibility for the specific diminution of several items. There are thus some benefits to the chief executive in letting someone else get the full impact of political protests when certain appropriations are curtailed.

The economy wave is, at the moment, only a ripple, but it is rolling up slowly. The debate which is going on over whether government spending is or is not a wise policy from the standpoint of economic recovery is likely to be reflected in congressional action on many measures, but, unfortunately, the emphasis is largely negative—an attack on spending without much constructive planning on how private spending and lending can be encouraged. This really is the biggest of national questions, whether one agrees that the government can do little to encourage the operations of private enterprise.

Negative Attitude
The first votes in congress would seem to indicate that the negative attitude will, for awhile at least, predominate. The mood of the congress is somewhat the same as the mood of the electorate last November, that there must be brakes applied and correctives introduced, but it would be wrong to assume that the administration request for funds will not be met in large measure. If congress cuts down the budget by $500,000,000, it will be something accomplished, but it still will not solve the problem of finding a real substitute for the $2,200,000,000 which it is sought to spend on relief. To get the national income to $80,000,000,000 and thus to find jobs for the persons now on WPA is the paramount issue. Any proposal to wipe out the WPA and turn the unemployed over to local relief, with consequent drains by the states on the federal treasury, would probably get as yet only a handful of votes from either party in congress.

'March of Dimes' Program Is Being Charted in County

This year the drive against infantile paralysis under the supervision of the Committee for the Celebration of the President's Birthday will open with the "march of dimes" program. Cards to be filled with dimes and mailed to President Roosevelt will be made available through the various community chairman in Outagamie county, according to Andrew J. Parnell, county chairman. Persons filling a dime will be entitled to wear an infantile button.

The "march of dimes" campaign will be an outstanding feature as it will constitute the only program in some of the smaller communities not large enough to hold organized parties. Appleton will have a birthday ball, according to Gustave J. Keller, city chairman.

Funds raised by the dimes programs will be given by the president to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis which was created last year.

Appleton Spends $4,956 for Poor During December

Expenditures are $600 More Than for Preceding Month

Appleton relief costs in December amounted to $4,956.63, about $605 more than the November costs but about $625 less than the costs for December 1937, according to a report of the relief accounting department compiled for F. A. W. Hammond, city relief director.

Payments to other counties for cases not residing in the city at present amounted to $388.78, bringing the total cost to $5,345.41. The department provided relief for 196 cases during the month as compared with 182 cases in December of 1937 and 170 in November of 1938. The city also gave aid amounting to $971.66 to 54 cases which are county charges.

Provisions for the month cost $1,942.21, an increase of $518.63 over November; shelter $566.65, an increase of $139.29; clothing $80.88, a decrease of $25.59; administration $857.77, a decrease of $20.40; fuel $843.78, an increase of $33.48; public utilities $118.87, a decrease of $2.13; direct relief paid in cash $87.50 an increase of $5; and other direct relief $17.60, an increase of $16.84.

Drugs and equipment cost $68.18, a decrease of $111.63; physicians $36, a decrease of $63.60; dental care $26, a decrease of $95.50; hospitalization $208.21, a decrease of $33.28; other medical care $5.

Dr. Stamm Will Talk to Chemists

Society to Meet Wednesday Evening at College Science Hall

Dr. Alfred J. Stamm, chief chemist at the Forest Products laboratory, Madison, will be the speaker at a meeting of the Northeast Wisconsin section, American Chemical society at Lawrence college Science hall at 8 o'clock next Wednesday evening. His subject will be "The Swelling and Shrinking of Wood and It's Control."

In his talk, Dr. Stamm will cover the fundamentals of swelling and shrinking, external swelling and shrinking, dispersion, effects of stresses and of chemicals on swelling and shrinking and means of minimizing swelling and shrinking of wood. He will extend the discussion from wood to pulp fibers and papers and also will talk on the making of a superior plywood.

Dr. Stamm received his B. S. degree in chemistry at California Institute of Technology and his Ph. D. degree in physical and colloidal chemistry at the University of Wisconsin. He spent a year as a National Research council fellow following chemistry at the University of Upsala, Upsala, Sweden, and has been at the Madison laboratory since 1925.

City Home Expenses For Month are $408

City home expenses in December amounted to $408.59, according to a report of F. A. W. Hammond, city relief director. Twenty-three persons were cared for at the home during the month, two new cases being received and one discharged. A break down of the costs shows $210.50 for administration, $150.46 for provisions, $32.20 for clothing, 50 cents for drugs, $5.38 for household supplies, $6.70 for maintenance and $28.63 for miscellaneous.

Rule Is Recommended As Project Inspector

A. C. Rule, city building inspector, will be recommended as inspector for the Lincoln school remodeling project, the board of public works decided at a meeting Thursday.

The recommendation will be considered by the common council Wednesday evening. Rule will be considered by the office in the work under the direction of Raymond LeVee, architect on the job, and along with his other duties as the city building inspector.

Fair Trade Codes May be Reason for Legislative Split

Majority Party Doesn't Seem to be Keen for Their Continuance

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison, Wis.—The 1939 Wisconsin legislature began its deliberations in an atmosphere of peace and brotherly love this week, but issues will soon crop up to threaten that harmonious spirit, legislative leaders admitted today as they began to study the problems which will be plumped before them before many weeks pass.

One of the most delicate of those problems is that involving the state fair trade practice department, authorized with the passage of the fair trade practices act (codes) in the 1937 special session of the legislature.

That question is one which typifies those which demolish party lines, in which special interests and organized pressure in the past have taken precedence over unorganized public opinion, and on which legislators are never quite sure until they get back home to talk with folks whether they took the right position.

The fair trade practices department, and the codes which it administers, will die in April by the limitations of the law unless the present legislature decides to repeal it before that time, or decides to continue the codes.

The law provided that codes would be enacted at the wish of a majority of the members of the industries specified. Thus far shoe rebuilders, barbers, beauty parlors, and highway contractors are covered by codes.

May Abolish Codes
Conflicting reports today held that Governor Heil, who refrained from discussing the code question during the campaign, will propose abolition of the code set-up, and that the administration will suggest retention of the barbers' code under the administration of the state board of health.

What is certain is that party lines will be divided on the question.

The code law was passed in the 1937 special session after the Progressive administration had ignored demands from barbers during the regular legislative term. The code question was included in Governor LaFollette's call for a special session after several hundred barbers formed a delegation and came to Madison to petition the governor. LaFollette's associates report that he proposed the code bill against his own will.

Administration of the law since its creation has not been without troubles. A vociferous minority of barbers has always insisted that the code law was the worst form of regimentation. However, a majority of the barbers appear to support the legislation.

Some criticism has also been directed at the code administrators as a result of the beauty parlor price schedule which was written into law last year.

The original cost schedule, made up on the basis of estimates of the beauticians, was drastically revised several weeks ago when it was found that actual costs of beauty treatment and service was far below that originally accepted.

Find Way To Evade
The highway code was also accepted with misgivings by some highway builders. Moreover, there are authoritative reports that some county highway departments are evading the code by splitting their highway contracts. The highway code covers only those contracts in excess of $500.

There is also a report that the shoe repairers' code is almost unenforceable in the rural sections of the state. It was recalled today that at the public hearing on the code, testimony was mostly from shoe shop proprietors in Milwaukee and other cities.

Perhaps the division of opinion in the legislature can be shown by the position of two of Northeastern Wisconsin's representatives. Harold A. Lytle, Green Bay Democrat, has joined the administration majority in the lower house. In 1937 he led the code fight, was successful with the help of Progressives. He is a barber and an officer in the barber's state organization.

Oconto county also sent a barber to the assembly this year, John Youngs, Republican. He announced yesterday that "they will have to shoot me down before I'll stop talk-

Start Boxing Lessons At Senior High School

Instruction in boxing was started Friday for physical education classes at Appleton High school under the direction of W. C. Pickett and Joseph Shields. It was the first time the new boxing equipment, purchased by the school board last summer, was used. Boxing tournaments will be arranged later for boys who improve in the sport.

County Receives $3,342 as Special Relief Allotment

Amount Is Based on Expenditures for 6-Month Period

A check for $3,342.55, representing a special state relief allocation for Outagamie county, has been received by Miss Marie Ziegenhagen, county treasurer, from the Wisconsin Public Welfare department.

The amount is 5 per cent of the $66,851.03 spent for relief in the county from April 1 to Sept. 30, 1938. This expenditure does not include hospitalization and administration costs. This money was made available through a special act of the legislature passed last year.

Following are the reimbursements for the various communities in the county: Appleton $1,237.24, Bear Creek village $6.90, Black Creek town $58.89, Black Creek village $6.71, Bovina $19.20, Buchanan $19.56, Center $4.30, Cleora $32.20, Combined Locks $61.79, Dale $22.61, Deer Creek $54.26, Ellington $29.67, Fremont $39.44, Grand Chute $96.46, Greenville $6.87, Hortonville $14.93, Hortonville $35.56, Kaukauna city $682.50, Kaukauna town $16.91, Kimberly $282.79, Liberty $4.32, Little Chute $206.97, Maine $30.95, Maple Creek $20.57, Oneida $146.13, Osborn $19.21, Seymour city $101.06, Seymour town $4.61, Shiocton $34.43, Vandalia $5.88, sewing project and surplus commodity distribution $29.55.

ing against a code bill if one is introduced."

Senator Mike Kresky, Green Bay Progressive, supported code legislation in 1937. He predicted yesterday, as a floorleader of the Progressive minority, that efforts to continue that legislation would fail in the 1939 session.

Assemblyman Mark Catlin, one of the floorleaders of the dominant Republican bloc in the lower house, reports that his opposition to the codes is as vigorous today as it was in 1937.

Officials of the state fair trade practices department said today that of the four codes now in effect, that covering the barber trade is the easiest to administer. In the Fox River Valley, one representative of the beauticians said, "the code practically enforces itself."

The department obtains most of its revenue from the highway code members, who are assessed for its administration, while most of its court litigation involves the beauty parlors and the beauty schools.

Propose Another
It was also revealed today that a preliminary survey has been completed for a proposed grocery store code. Sentiment was polled in several urban areas, including Madison, Milwaukee, La Crosse, Eau Claire, and the Fox River Valley and lake shore region. In most of those sections the larger store owners, and the chains, approved a code regulating hours and wages of store employees, but in the Fox River Valley area such sentiment was relatively low. Opposition comes, it was shown from the neighborhood store proprietors.

Reliable administration sources predicted today that the personnel of the fair trade practices department, which is headed by a Progressive leader, E. M. Rowlands, will shortly be dismissed by Governor Heil and replaced by Republican supporters. The legislature last year omitted to provide for civil service regulations in the employment of department help. Included among those expected to lose their places is Walter Melchior of Appleton, Fox River Valley Progressive campaigner, who was in the last election. He is counsel for the department.

Candidates Keep City Clerk Busy Issuing Papers

Seven New Aspirants for Aldermanic Jobs, One For Supervisor

Candidates seeking political jobs continued to flood the city clerk's office in city hall today as seven new men took out papers for aldermanic jobs and one more was added to the list of county board aspirants.

Seeking city council positions so far are 44 candidates while 21 either are circulating or have filed nomination papers for supervisory posts. Arrin B. Scheurle, 1321 N. Union street, incumbent Sixth ward supervisor, was the single candidate for the county board today. He will seek to represent the new Fourth ward, which will be formed from a part of the Sixth ward.

Incumbents Run Two incumbent aldermen, C. D. Thompson, in the Second ward, and Edward Knijit, in the Fourth ward, entered the race for council jobs today. Alderman Thompson will run for office in the new Second ward, where he is unopposed, while Knijit will seek office in the Twelfth ward in a 2-way race. Ray Knico, 1317 S. Jefferson street, took out papers in the same ward today and the third candidate is Walter Nissen, 129 W. Foster street.

Leonard Zehren, 516 W. Eighth street, took out papers for the aldermanic post in the Ninth ward where he will oppose Alderman Keller, incumbent Third ward alderman, and Dr. A. Lester Koch, 4201 S. Memorial drive.

Another 3-cornered race for alderman developed in the Eighteenth ward with the candidacy of William Krautkremer, 1303 W. College avenue. His opponents are Roy C. Beson, 1017 W. Eighth street, and Harold Douglas, 1209 W. Lorain street.

4-Way Race The first 4-way race developed today when Alfred Wetzel, 302 W. Wisconsin avenue, took out papers for the post of alderman from the Sixth ward. Other candidates are Leslie C. Gehlert, 1719 N. Alvin street, Richard Kottke, 1424 N. Richmond street, and Harvey G. Kiltner, 1403 N. Clark street.

Ronald N. Schomisch, 134 N. Richmond street, will seek the aldermanic job from the Eighth ward where he will be opposed by Henry Wichmann, 407 N. State street.

Those who filed papers today are George Weighn, 1109 W. Packard street, seeking the supervisory post in the Seventeenth ward; Frank Ritz, 218 E. Atlantic street, running for alderman in the Fifteenth ward; and Peter Volmer, 638 W. Prospect avenue, running for alderman in the Tenth ward.

Cites Past as Aid In Facing Future

Dr. Weston Is Speaker at Lawrence College Convocation

Experience of the past as a means for equipping ourselves for the future was stressed by Dr. Arthur Weston, professor of Latin and Greek at Lawrence college, in his talk before Lawrence students at convocation yesterday morning.

Entitling his address, "Past, Present, and Future," Dr. Weston told students that "often we hear speakers who declare that the younger generation is short of the world, and to some degree this is true, but we should also put hope in the past as a help to the future."

Declaring that people are learning more and more to appreciate the significance of the past as a guide to future undertakings, Dr. Weston said "How much poorer the world would be if it were not for the inheritance of the world."

Although humanity has occupied the earth and been in a civilized state for five or six thousand years, it has not progressed very far, a professor said. "But we are going to progress more and more as time goes on."

Medical Society Says a Man 'Is as Old as His Arteries'

Madison—"A man is as old as his arteries," according to the state medical society.

"We human beings are subject to changes in our arteries, changes which may cause the walls of our arteries to harden, so that much of their elasticity is lost. This condition is known commonly as 'hardening of the arteries.' Its medical name is arteriosclerosis."

"When one views the possible complications or arteriosclerosis, the outlook for these patients seems dismal, but fortunately many victims of the ailment live their allotted years normally, with some other disease terminating their existence."

Calcium Deposit "In early life we have normal, competent blood vessels. The vessel walls are strengthened during the days of youth by the filling in of new elastic fibers. This process continues until the elastic tissue is quite predominant. Somewhere around the age of fifty a deposit of calcium may begin to replace the elastic tissue. Calcium as a bony substance and has no elastic quality, so as the amount increases, the vessels' ability to stretch becomes lessened. The deposit of calcium may continue to actual bone formation in the vessel wall, and when one feels the pulse of one so afflicted, the artery in the wrist may be rolled under the finger—a rigid, hard tube."

"When hardening of the arteries sets in, the heart, which forces blood through rigid tubes, must exert itself beyond its normal capacity. As greater work becomes necessary, nature aids the heart by making its muscular walls thicker and more powerful, but there is a limit to this enlargement. As more and more force is required to pump the blood, the heart gradually may fail to perform its extra duty. This is not heart disease—it is failure of an overworked vital organ. But the heart may never fail, even though the sclerosis in the arteries is extensive. Other symptoms may appear. If the hardening of the vessel wall is accompanied by thickening and the diameter of the artery's opening becomes less and less, the tissue which that vessel supplies must soon suffer from lack of nourishment. This occurs most often in the feet."

First Complaint "At first, the only complaint is inability to keep the feet warm. This may be followed in months or years by pain in the legs when walking; the pain being quickly relieved by resting for a few minutes. As the lack of blood supply becomes more acute, color changes may be noticed; a dead white when the foot is elevated for a few minutes and a dusky red when it is held lower than the body—definite evidence of diminished blood supply. If the capacity of the arteries continues to decrease, the tissue may die through lack of nutrition. "Much can be done to avoid the damage of arteriosclerosis. Overeating and the resulting accumulation of fat should be religiously avoided, but the diet should be adequate and correctly balanced to include the necessary foods and vitamins. Exercise should be limited to that which produces no undue strain on the heart, for it already carries an excessive load. Shortness of breath during work or exercise is a danger sign and must be heeded."

"Latter rest periods both during the day and at night are helpful in aiding the impaired circulatory system. Mental rest, as well as physical, is essential. Turned worry, and anger must be stricken from the existence of the arteriosclerotic person."

Remember that a man is as old as his arteries. When blood vessels show evidence of advancing years, one's mode of living should be adjusted to compensate, and trouble can be avoided."

Appleton Man, 31, Confesses Taking And Wrecking Car

Will Face Charge of Operating Car Without Owner's Consent

Green Bay—John Pahlke, 31, 1007 N. Rankin street, Appleton, was being held in the Brown county jail here today on charges of operating a car without the owner's consent after police said he confessed taking the machine of Arnold Servotte, Green Bay, about 8 o'clock last night, driving down Broadway street "with the gas down to the floor" and skidding into the warehouse of the Miller Scrap Paper company.

The car and front of the building were wrecked in the accident but Pahlke escaped with a few cuts and bruises which he first told police he received in a tavern fight. He later confessed taking the car, and he will be arraigned Monday.

Police found Pahlke behind a tree near the scene of the accident. After some questioning he was taken to the police station, and he confessed taking the car from a parking place on N. Broadway street. He told Lieutenant Otto M. Cronce that he was going to Appleton and that he had been drinking, the police officer said.

Papers and a driving license bearing the name of Arthur Bachman, Chicago, were found on his person and police said he confessed taking them from a car. The articles had been reported stolen.

Prince Valdemar of Denmark Dies at 80

Copenhagen—(AP)—Prince Valdemar of Denmark, famous "uncle of kings," died today of bronchial influenza. He was 80 years old.

He was an uncle of King Christian of Denmark and the youngest brother of the late Queen Alexandra of Great Britain, the wife of King Edward VII.

He received the nickname "uncle of kings" before the World war, when his nephews were on the thrones of five countries—Great Britain, Norway, Denmark, Greece and Russia.

Valdemar himself was once offered a throne but refused it. Bulgaria in 1887 asked him to become its king, but he preferred the life of a prince of Denmark and his career in the Danish navy.

Painting, Decorating Class Will Be Offered

A slack season painting and decorating class has been organized for journeymen painters and decorators of the city of Appleton.

The class, for which registration will be limited, will meet at 1:30 on Thursday afternoons at the school for a period of seven weeks. Carl Bertram, co-ordinator at the school, today requested men interested in the course to get in touch with him. A. G. Eidemiller, Fond du Lac, circuit instructor, will have charge of the class.

Make Application for Conservation Payments

About 2,000 applications for 1938 soil conservation payments were made this week by Outagamie county farmers, according to J. F. Magnus, county agricultural agent. The applications will be sent in to the state committee and soil checks are expected in about two weeks.

Births

A daughter was born Friday to Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Dietrich, 608 E. Fremont street, at St. Elizabeth hospital.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Emil Glass, 325 N. Appleton street, Jan. 7. The baby weighed 12 pounds.

It Is Said--

That Appleton voters apparently are interested in finding out the numbers of the wards in which they live before the primary election, Mar. 14. An article advising residents that maps of the city showing the new ward lines under the 18-ward plan appeared in the Post-Crescent last night. This morning more than 300 persons called at the city clerk's office to get their maps, all of which gave the clerk's staff a busy day.

That if Raymond P. Dohr, district attorney, were a superstitious man he would have plenty to worry about. He owns a lot which is numbered 133 and yesterday, Jan. 13, at the thirteen, he paid taxes of $12.13 on the lot. He has a son who was born 13 minutes after midnight on a Friday the thirteenth.

That Mrs. Martha Steinmetz, Jacksonville, Fla., is seeking to contact relatives living in Appleton or in this vicinity by the names of William, Louis and Henry Wickman. Mrs. Steinmetz has written to Chief of Police George T. Pratt asking him for his assistance. Any person knowing the whereabouts of the persons may contact the police chief.

are appearing in the central and northern sections. A section of Highway 158 in the vicinity of Nichols is under water and a detour has been laid out. The Chicago motor club warned motorists today against taking roads radiating from that city except in emergency cases.

Mild temperatures accompanied the heavy snow. At 1 o'clock this afternoon, the Appleton reading was 33.

For the 24-hour period ended at 9 o'clock this morning, precipitation in the city measured .19, according to the Wisconsin State meteorological service. The highest mark was 31 and the lowest 28. The worst storm of the new year spread over the nation today with snow and sub-freezing temperatures general from the Atlantic coast to the Rocky mountains, the Associated Press reported.

Sleet, rain and snow caused many traffic fatalities. Four persons died when a Northwest Airlines plane crashed in flames in a snow-covered coulee near Miles City, Mont. New England Hit

A blizzard, sweeping through New England, buffeted New York and Rhode Island with particular fury, although all the north Atlantic states suffered.

A 10-hour snowfall covered New York city's streets to a depth of eight inches and jammed traffic so badly in Manhattan that police asked radio stations to broadcast appeals to out-of-town residents not to attempt to drive their cars into the city.

In the wake of the snow, a 40-mile-an-hour gale roared up the east coast.

Transportation was retarded by ice-glazed highways in New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Iowa and Illinois. Most roads remained open but buses were running up to 80 minutes late in Pennsylvania.

The wintry onslaught followed days of spring-like weather in many sections.

Heavy rain or snow fell in portions of Kentucky, Tennessee and the east gulf states, but slowly rising temperatures were forecast. Heavy snows during the weekend were predicted for the north Atlantic states with lighter falls in the Ohio valley, the lower lake region and the Appalachian section.

Gertz Buys Business Building at Kaukauna

Joseph P. Gertz, Kaukauna, has purchased a building and lot at 147 E. Second street, Kaukauna, from Mrs. Marjorie B. Kaukauna. Mr. Gertz at present operates a tavern in the building. The real estate transfer has been filed with Stephen Peeters, Outagamie county register of deeds. The following transfers also have been filed:

John Kelly to Faustina J. Kelly et al, about 60 acres of land in the town of Liberty.

Della Unmuth to Anton Wickes, a lot in the town of Grand Chute.

Appleton Skat Club To Sponsor Tourney

About 150 skat players from nine cities are expected to enter a tournament sponsored by the Appleton Skat club at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon at Starke's hotel. Players are expected from Milwaukee, Manitowish, Sheboygan, Fond du Lac, Green Bay, Neenah, Menasha, Kaukauna and Appleton.

Senate Repeals 26 Shifts Under Previous Regime

their promise for a business administration, asserting reorganization is good business and much of it already had been accomplished.

Notable among the departments to be put back where they were is the beverage tax division, placed under civil service at the last session. It was transferred by executive order to the tax commission and now returns to the treasury department under jurisdiction of the new Republican treasurer, John M. Smith.

The consolidated state enforcement and inspection bureau, of which the beverage tax division was a part, will be dismantled and various inspection units will return to the departments where they formerly belonged.

Other Changes Another division abolished is that of social adjustment. Administration of relief and pensions will go back to the industrial commission and welfare departments respectively.

The board of control will resume supervision of state and county sanatoria as well as other functions taken away from it. Stout institute and the state mining school again will be under separate boards, county normal schools will be returned to the board of normal regents to the superintendent of public instruction and state Radio Stations WHA and WBL will be re-transferred from the university regents to the department of agriculture and markets.

Governor Julius P. Heil will have supervision over out-of-state-travel expenses and the home and farm credit administration, which had been shifted to the budget bureau and the department of agriculture respectively.

The board of control will take the schools for the blind and deaf from the department of public instruction.

Senate Roll Call The roll call by which the senate adopted the White resolution repealing the LaFollette reorganization changes followed.

For the resolution: Brown, Coakley, Collier, Duell, Freehoff, Gettelman, Lovelace, Mack, Miller, Mueller, Peters, Rothe, Shearer and White. Republicans: Bolen, Gawronski, Sauld, Young and Zimny, Democrats—19.

Against the resolution: Busby, Greenquist, Hampel, Ingram, Kresky, McDermid, Nelson, Paulson, Risser and Rush. Progressives—10. Paired: For, Fisher, Republican; against, Connors, Progressive.

The Rinks Today Park and street department workmen were busy today with plows and scrapers in an effort to provide skating places for ice enthusiasts over the weekend. It is expected Jones and Erb park rinks will be ready for use as well as rinks at Edison school, Newberry street, Spencer street and Wilson Junior High school.

Swanson Honored at Co-Operative Parley

R. C. Swanson, former Outagamie county agricultural agent now at Milwaukee county, was honored at a banquet sponsored by member co-operatives of the Fox River Valley Co-operative Wholesale last evening at Hotel Appleton.

Swanson was one of the speakers at the banquet which climaxed an afternoon's business session of co-operative directors and members. J. F. Magnus, the new Outagamie county agent, talked on co-operatives at the afternoon meeting. An industrial sound show in color of the steel industry was shown after the banquet. About 150 men attended.

Chambers Packed For Arguments on Power Agreement

Officials, Utility Representatives Debate Water Rights Contract

Kaukauna — Before a crowd that packed the council chambers and overflowed into the hall, the contract with the Green Bay and Mississippi Canal company approved at a special council meeting Jan. 6 received a thorough going over last night.

Proponents of the agreement, which in essence trades the city's right to 32 per cent of the Fox river at the government dam to the Canal company for 100 per cent of the flow below the company's Badger plant, were H. F. Weckwerth, utility superintendent, Joseph Lefevre, utility attorney, May or Lewis F. Nelson and Charles Seaborn and M. T. Ray of the Thilmany Pulp and Paper company. Leading the objections were City Attorney Harry F. McAndrews and Dr. W. C. Sullivan, former mayor and former utility commissioner.

Weckwerth opened the discussion. Using a large map, he charted the course of the development to be begun under the contract, and described it as a "very feasible plan." Weckwerth then repeated statements City Attorney McAndrews had made Jan. 6 when advising the council to vote against the measure, and replied to each. The statement that "during the 9 year period which the present lease has to run it is recited that the city will not use the electric energy at its plant before using all of the power generated at the 3 plants of the Canal company," is incorrect Weckwerth said.

Points to Value
"The amount of money turned over to the city by the Utility since Jan. 1, 1934, to Dec. 31, 1937, in addition to taxes, is as follows: 1934, $24,630.90; 1935, $32,125.06; 1936, $30,000; 1937, $35,538.49. Total, $122,294.45. Conditions were much the same prior to 1934. . . . All of these figures are in addition to outlays for equipment and materials for the utility and purchase of the Outagamie mill with its water power rights. Not a dollar of indebtedness is now outstanding against the utility." From an initial investment of $58,000 the utility has grown to a value of $700,704.68, with an additional investment of $201,630.32 in non-operating property, Weckwerth said.

Discussing rates, Weckwerth said comparative figures indicate that Kaukauna is enjoying fair rates. "Large power is sold to the mills at low cost in competition with their own generating equipment," he said.

"The WPA has allotted $232,701 for rock excavating in the tailrace and channel, and construction of the dam across the river. . . . It has taken about seven months to get the proper clearance from the Federal Power Commission and the Public Service Commission. If we were to submit another proposal there is a possibility of its being rejected on Federal economic principles."

Will Provide Jobs
"The work in the tailrace and forebay will employ one hundred men for more than a year and should relieve the relief situation in the city."

Finishing, Weckwerth asked for questions. W. H. Cooper, former council member, asked that when the city bought the Patten mill if it was not understood the water rights were to be retained. Weckwerth replied that the city was now adding to its rights.

Joseph Lefevre followed Weckwerth in speaking for the contract. "It seems to me," he said, "that we must take certain things as being facts: "That the city made a good deal when it purchased the Patten property. . . .

"That the water power is worthless as it comes to the Government dam in so far as the city of Kaukauna is concerned. . . .

"That in order to use the water, whether it be 32 per cent or 100 per cent, a dam must be built at approximately the same cost to the city of Kaukauna at the Patten site. . . .

"That it would be unwise to purchase or to condemn water power rights of the Canal company as it reaches the Government dam, even though this could be done. . . .

Reviews Contract
In eight paragraphs Lefevre then reviewed the contract's provisions, and then told of what effect, in his opinion, it would have upon the city.

"In my opinion, and also in the opinion of the engineers, it will permit cheaper power to the consumer, and that means you and me, as well as industrial plants, which naturally make it an inducement for them to locate here. . . .

"It will permit us to sell to Thilmany Pulp and Paper company after its contract expires, to sell so cheaply to the Thilmany company that it cannot afford 'to go on its own.' If we have the power available, and it is advantageous for us to sell to Thilmany. . . .

"My conclusions are as follows: That it is for the best interest of the community, as well as for industry in the city of Kaukauna, to accept the power agreement. . . . The Kaukauna office of the Appleton Post-Crescent is located in the Jules Martens barbershop on Wisconsin avenue. William Dowling is the correspondent in charge and the telephone number is 107. Subscribers may call this number until 6.30 in the evening if their papers were not delivered."

Handrich Director of Truckers' Association

Manawa — Alvin A. Handrich, former assemblyman of this district announced his acceptance of Private and Contract Truckers association. While in the legislature, Mr. Handrich devoted much time to the study of laws and regulations governing the operation of motor trucks on the highways. The main office of the association is located in Madison.

Mr. Handrich served four years as assemblyman from this district, with his second term ending Jan. 11.

property, gave the history of this first development. Since 1934 the $213,000 contributed by the utility would appear to be a hidden tax on the people, Copes said. It saves taxes on property of the Canal company and on the Kaukauna lots, he continued. But the contract is too big a question for him to pass judgment on, Copes said when asked for a definite opinion.

Seaborn said the city of Kaukauna is getting three times as much water power as it is trading in. M. T. Ray said that although he didn't think anyone would object to a referendum, if such experienced men as had spoken at the meeting disagreed on the question how could one expect others to vote intelligently?

Mayor Lewis F. Nelson closed the meeting with the statement that the new development would give Kaukauna one of the most outstanding positions in the state if not in the nation.

Dim Lights for Safety

"Shouldn't we have a referendum on this question?" asked one of the speakers. "We have an early opportunity to vote on a ballot," Dr. Sullivan said. "I don't think the voters are given a referendum ballot, and Alderman Theodore Seaborn supported this suggestion."

7:30 Sat.—Pulpmakers vs. CYO.
8:30 Sat.—Pantry Lunch vs. Mellow Brews.
2:00 Sun.—Gustmans vs. D-X Oils.
3:00 Sun.—Pulpmakers vs. Company D.

Kaukauna — Four games are slated this weekend as the Kaukauna City basketball league moves toward the end of first half play. Tonight the Pulpmakers clash with the CYO squad and Mellow Brews tangle with the Pantry Lunch, with Gustmans meeting D-X Oils in the third league contest tomorrow afternoon. The strong Company D team of Appleton will play the Pulpmakers in a non-league contest to complete the program.

The strong Mellow Brews, last year's city champs and winners of three straight so far, will be heavy favorites to run over the Pantry Lunch five. Boasting the two high league scores in Charley and Ed Bloch the Brews attacker has been unstoppable so far, and there is no reason to suppose that the Lunchers, with but one win to their credit, and that over the cellar holding Gustmans, can turn the trick. The Pulpmaker-CYO contest will be more of an even match, with the CYO players holding a slight edge on past performances. The D-X Oils, who battled the Brews on even terms for three quarters last week, are picked to trouble the Gustmans, possessors of three straight losses, Sunday afternoon. Art Koehne and Bill Peterson, D-X sharpshooters, will attempt to climb in the race for high point honors. Both are among the first ten.

Bohr Building Fire Loss Set at Nearly $10,000
Clintonville — A complete check-up on the loss resulting from the fire at the A. G. Bohr building Wednesday show that it will total nearly $10,000. The damage to the building alone is over $4,000, while the balance covers the loss by fire, smoke and water to the contents of the building. This includes the stock of women's apparel at the Tip-Top Shop, the stock in the Bohr harness shop, and the furniture and personal effects of the Bohr family, which occupied the rooms on the second floor. The fire started from an explosion of a kerosene heater used to heat wax for harnesses in the rear of the building. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

AN AMERICAN COMPARISON

When Mr. Murphy took over the office of Attorney-General he found himself at the head of an extensive department with a budget of about 50 million dollars a year. He became chief to a total of nearly 7000 lawyers, investigators and others and found himself in supervision over 18,000 federal prisoners. Mr. Murphy will receive a salary of $15,000 a year—which should be at least twice that much—but will be allowed a machine and a driver.

To show what has happened to America in the last 125 years it is interesting to read what has been dug out of the archives by energetic reporters bent upon making the comparison. They found that this country got along until 1813 without even providing a clerk for its attorney general. He had to do his own writing. But in 1822 William Wirt, who occupied that office, overcame the wild beatings of his heart sufficiently to request that he be provided with certain books, a map, some chairs, and even a pitcher and tumblers, and a table. He made bold to suggest that he wanted good furniture that "ought to be strongly made and neat enough not to be discreditable to the nation."

That was only 116 years before Mr. Murphy took office. And in the story of the world 116 years is but a moment. Only in the story of those who happen to walk the earth today does it appear of very much consequence.

There will be many among us who would be glad to return America to the splendor of its work of frugality of 116 years ago, but those who struggled along at that time were looking forward to what we have today, yet never blinding themselves with a real picture of our richness and development, our wealth and our blunders. And yet it is true, too, the nation would never have arrived at its present enviable position except as it abided through the generations to certain ideas of work and sweat and rest and play.

The young man born in this generation views a cinema revealing horses clattering down the streets, the crowd at the opera-house for its one show a week, a gala day upon a chugging river steamer, leg of mutton sleeves, hair coiled high and collars upon the men equally as high, and yearns to return the present mode of life to that one of rustic simplicity that has gone forever. But that is as impossible as to swing Mr. Murphy back into William Wirt's office with that pitcher and the tumblers resting on the stout oaken table.

Yet if Mr. Murphy will conduct the affairs of his office according to the same upright principles that were demanded during the formative years of this republic he will bring to the people and to himself a satisfaction that may be obtained in no other manner.

The Ten Commandments, the Declaration of Independence, the Bill of Rights, honor and honesty in public office or private endeavor, have not and do not change with the centuries. They were always as true as they were the day they were originally written or demanded.

NEW NAMES—BUT THE OLD GAME

Pump priming is no longer a particularly popular expression. But when good, motting, explosive words lose their potency it is time for an administration to get a substitute even though the practice pursued under the old has not changed in the slightest.

Now, pump priming was not a bad name for the practice in which the administration indulged if the lords and masters at Washington had only lived up to it. For baptizing babies, naming streets, singing songs and shouting slogans we think our rulers are entitled to first place in American history and we would not gainsay them. But the title is better than might have been, and the stamp on the package and if the goods inside are worthless or not up to standard the title is only befuddled someone.

In respect to pump priming the principal trouble with the administration was that it employed words it did not understand. Mr. Roosevelt, we dare say, never primed a pump in his life. If he did he would understand there were two distinct operations involved. Someone, perhaps, told him that you prime a pump by pouring water down into it and forgot to tell him that after this process is completed someone has to work like blazes on the pump handle to complete the suction and get the water from the well to pouring out.

But the trouble is typical. It doesn't take very much sweat to pour water from a pitcher. With the cameras snapping and the uninformed masses cheering the noble leader of our nation poured and poured. Every little while he would look up and smile with benign concern upon the people. Then he poured and poured and poured. That pouring process has been going on steadily for six full years, just pouring and pouring and pouring.

But when anyone stepped up to grab the handle and start that vigorous up-and-down action essential to satisfactory results the President hollered "he isn't a liberal!" and pushed him away.

Such is the history of our pump priming, sad and full of woe. But the moral of this tale was written in even the simple stories of practical parents to their children in the long, long ago, even when the earth was very young.

As applied here one might say that if you want to prime a pump maybe—just maybe, of course—you better obtain the services of someone who knows something about a pump.

APPEASEMENT

The Chamberlain policy that has been christened Appeasement is not definable with precision.

It consists of a number of important factors including the strong feeling in many just places that Germany had certain rights that were ignored too long.

But it also manifestly is an outspoken policy that demands time so that England may face future critical situations with resolution.

There is a comparable period in English history where a policy of appeasement served Britain well and long, in fact destroyed her arch enemy and brought her world power. It relates to the time of Elizabeth, "good Queen Bess" who wasn't good enough to stay the ax on frequent occasions when it never should have swung.

But in the days of Elizabeth Spain ruled the seas, sometimes by force and sometimes by the concessions of respect. Then Spain had what she proudly called the Invincible Armada, the great fleet, so stout and extensive that her lords of high degree assured themselves nothing could stand in her pathway.

England was in confusion of mind as to the proper policy. Elizabeth was a virtual dictator. Her decision was final. Her councils with her captains and ministers were many. There was Lord Essex, ready and willing to wipe Parma's troops out of existence if he could only get at their throats. There was Walsingham, dark and broody, recognized leader of those who champed on their bits for immediate war. There was Burleigh who counseled caution and restraint. He spoke out for diplomacy, the trickery of a Machiavelli. Negotiate, said he, smooth their palms, gain time, enlist the treacherous tides and the dangerous storms on the seas.

Elizabeth listened. That was the more masculine part about her. She could listen better than she could talk. And she was willing to listen. In fact she liked to listen.

But as she listened and delayed Drake and Hawkins were working feverishly upon their naval recruits, manning the new vessels, building, pounding, drilling and training as against the day when the Invincible Armada was scattered by the winds, blown up by the cannon, slowly ground to pieces upon the rocks by the heartless tides. Elizabeth timed her delay most beautifully.

It was England's first policy of appeasement. And it laid Spain low as a world power.

THE PURGE THAT FAILED

Some interesting facts have come out of Germany that indicate the desire at Berlin to hide the worst blemishes and soften the gorilla ferocity heretofore exhibited.

About a month ago appeared notice that some 120 German citizens were to be tried in secret before a "people's court" with the declaration that eighteen were already marked for execution. But when the time arrived a leader among the rebels who had printed a great blasphemy to the effect that "Herr Hitler is a German misfortune" alone was brought to trial and given a life sentence instead of the ax.

And the world breathes a little freer and smiles a little more fondly, not that it forgets Nazi atrocities or forgives brutal pogroms but that a gladsome light is bound to appear in human eyes even at small signs of improvement.

Let us make no mistake about the cause of this improvement. It is not that the tiger's heart has suddenly become soft. It is that world opinion is becoming felt and that in the high councils of Germany convictions are forming that when a people make a slaughterhouse of their capital city because otherwise decent citizens have protested against the government the wound is felt around the world and hurts in far off Sarag as well as in Le Havre or Liverpool.

Most farm lands now are selling for approximately 45 per cent of the 1927 price, a survey by the college of agriculture indicated. Average sale price in 1927 was $59 an acre and in 1938 it was $26.

Japan's campaign against Westernization of its women recently reached the munitions industry. Several companies discharged all women workers who had permanent waves.

Japanese commercial airlines do not use radio-beams or directional finders. They do not fly at night, or even in bad daytime weather.

DALE HARRISON'S
In Old New York

New York—I do not, as a general rule, consider chicanery one of the nobler traits. Ordinarily you will find me lined up four-square behind forthrightness. I make an exception in the case of Mario and Mervin's dance orchestra. Here is a case where mischief, to use a kind word, paid dividends.

This is the story as they told it to me: Mario and Mervin were schoolmates only a few years ago in a Brooklyn high school. Having nothing else to do, they got a few of the boys together and organized a little high school orchestra. Mario played violin, and I forget what Mervin played. It doesn't matter. The school furnished the instruments anyway.

After a while, the boys figured they were pretty good. What has Paul Whiteman got that we haven't got, aside from a few hundred dollars, they inquired. They decided they were good enough to play at some modest nightery, and at last they discovered a joint in Jersey that gave them a job.

There is nothing sensational in this so far, but we're getting warm. The boys, remember, were an orchestra without instruments. The high school carefully locked up the violins and saxophones and trap drums and bass fiddle every afternoon. Mario and Mervin did not dare suggest that the school lend them the instruments, on account of the joint where they proposed to work was not of high moral standard. They even went so far as to say it was a dump which high school boys should stay far away from.

Now comes the chicanery. When the curtain of night fell over the City of Churches and the high school was dark and still, the Messrs. Mario and Mervin slipped slyly through a window and tip-toed to the lockers which contained the instruments. With a key which they had acquired in some scandalous manner, they opened the lockers and took such instruments as were required for their five piece orchestra.

The drums and the bass fiddle were an awful nuisance, but they hoisted them through the window to their musicians waiting below, and then scampered away into the darkness. They loaded them on the subway and away they went to Jersey.

About 2 a.m., their dance job finished, they reversed the procedure and climbed back into the schoolhouse and replaced their instruments.

This went on for weeks, a shameful proceeding certainly, but profitable withal. The boys made money and got so they played together very well indeed. Of course, they seldom got to bed before 5 a.m., and had to be in school at 9, but nobody paid much attention, as the lads were never sensational students anyway.

One night catastrophe came, as it does to all who transgress. They were apprehended as they were replacing the instruments, and I can tell you that it is very difficult to think of excuses if you have a bull fiddle on your back that doesn't belong to you.

That ended that; but the lads by that time had enough money to buy their own bass fiddle and stuff, which they did; and now they play around town in some very nice places, and the music is sweet. If it hadn't been for "loan" of the school instruments, there probably wouldn't be any Mario and Mervin's orchestra. So my point is that high schools are great things, and you may quote me on it.

Dance orchestras spring up in New York like dandelions after a rain. They come, and they go. Big name bands of a decade ago are, with exceptions such as Whiteman, Vallee and Lopez, mostly memories. Benny Goodman's band, for instance, is barely three years old. Tommy Dorsey's is a comparative newcomer; and bands like Charles Baum's are still in the process of making their fame.

Baum, whose orchestra plays at the snooty Iridium Room of the St. Regis (Vincent Astor's hotel), is a 28-year-old Newark, N. J., boy who was with Whiteman for three years, barnstormed for a time and earned the reputation of being one of the country's best popular piano players.

He started his own band about a year ago at the Essex House. Vincent Astor dropped in, heard him, liked him, and signed him for the Iridium Room.

If, in another couple of years, Charles Baum's orchestra grows famous, don't say no one told you.

Looking Backward

10 YEARS AGO

Saturday, Jan. 12, 1929

J. L. Jacquet was reelected president of the Appleton Building and Loan association at the annual association meeting in the city hall that week. Other officers elected were John Diederich, vice president; George A. Beckley, secretary; Lucille A. Lillge, assistant secretary, and E. C. Hilfert, treasurer. Directors for the coming year were Beckley, Philip Weferbach, J. J. Plank, Hilfert, D. P. Steinberg, H. A. Gloude-mans, Jacquet, Diederich and Leslie Hanson.

Among actors and actresses appearing in motion pictures then showing at the various theaters in Appleton were John Gilbert, Antonio Moreno, Billie Dove, Jack Holt, Betty Compson and Lewis Stone.

Working day and night, the county snow removal crews had succeeded in opening Highway 41 and 47, Highway 26 to New London, 55 to Seymour and 76 to Shiocton. Most of the trouble during the previous week was due to high winds which caused lanes to drift shut as fast as they were opened.

25 YEARS AGO

Saturday, Jan. 17, 1914

About $9,000 was to be spent by the St. Joseph congregation that year on the parish hall on Lawrence street. Among things to be installed were a new heating plant, recreation room, bowling alley and a gymnasium.

The United States navy ranked third among the naval armaments of the world, according to figures given in Pulitzer's "Navy Year Book," published in Washington as a senate document. Great Britain ranked first with a total tonnage of 2,052,711. Germany had 943,338 tons and the United States had 700,000. France, Japan, Russia and Italy followed in the order named.

Lou Sherman had purchased an imported percheron stallion from S. Metz and Sons of Homewood, Ill. The horse weighed 2,180 pounds and was black with the exception of a white star.

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

DEATH WAS A KINDLY FRIEND

Death was a kindly friend to her;
How gentle was his healing hand
That led her where the lilies star
In a warm, lovely land.

Her dark eyes clouded with the pain
That was too heavy to be borne.
We could not wish her back again,
Who sorrowfully mourn.

The only one who could control
The anguish of her labored breath
Was the good friend who made her whole—
The shining angel, Death.

How beautiful the journey was
Beneath her whispering touch;
We could not wish her back because
We loved her far too much!

A Bystander
In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington — There is no escaping the cathedral note that attended the swearing in of the two recent cabinet appointments by President Roosevelt.

The latest was former Governor Frank Murphy of Michigan, who was named Attorney General. Earlier came the appointment and swearing in of Harry Hopkins, former WPA chief, as Secretary of Commerce.

Ordinarily these things are booped along as a matter of course and the oath to support the constitution is read off more or less casually although with due respect for the fact that it is a very serious occasion for those involved.

But in the case of Murphy and Hopkins, there was a special note of gravity, if not religious fervor, that caught the few chosen spectators off guard. Prior to taking the oath Murphy spent upwards of an hour cloaked with Roosevelt in the executive's chamber.

Murphy solemn

Murphy, usually jovial, was as solemn as a Hindu prophet. He had scarcely a smile for even his close friends among the group and was quite obviously impressed by the situation. Then came the swearing in by Associate Justice Reed of the Supreme Court. Murphy had his own Bible for the occasion, one presented him at the age of 15 by his mother when he was graduated from grade school.

"To Dear Frank from mama on the day he graduated, June 26, 1908," was inscribed on the fly leaf.

But that was not all. Once upon a time his mother had marked two preferred verses, Isaiah 11, 4-5.

"But with righteousness shall he judge the poor, and reprove with equity for the meek of the earth; and he shall smite the earth with the rod of his mouth, and with the breath of his lips shall he slay the wicked."

"And righteousness shall be the girdle of his loins, and faithfulness the girdle of his reins."

(Note: the next verse begins: "The wolf also shall dwell with the lamb," etc. That was not marked.)

Watercock Breaks Through

Of these two verses Murphy placed his hand as he was sworn in.

There was less of school religious atmosphere about the swearing in of Hopkins, but he took the occasion with equal seriousness. If ever there was a place what-the-blazes party, on occasions it has been Hopkins. But not this time. Solemnly enraptured him, Mrs. Roosevelt made it the occasion for giving him a Bible since he is a close family friend, and upon it he took the oath.

It was not until the spectators were outside that they could shake off the ritualistic atmosphere. But wisecracking Washington took hold again as one remarked: "In God we trust" is replacing the brain trust."

WHY COOPERATIVES SUCCEED

Editor Post-Crescent: In an article in this column Jan. 10, "A Middleman" takes the consumers' co-operatives to task on several grounds. As one having been connected with consumers' co-operative organizations for many years and now connected with such an organization in the city of Appleton representing 860 Appleton citizens I feel it my duty to them to outline a few facts to "A Middleman" in order that he may have a clearer idea of what consumers' co-operation is.

In the second paragraph of his letter "A Middleman" admits the validity of the principle under which producers' co-operatives operate. Had he but examined carefully these principles he would have found that they operate on the idea of carrying out the middleman's work themselves eliminating middlemen's profits thereby receiving in the long run more for their produce. To deny the right to consumers to do the same thing is to say that "What is good for the goose is not good for the gander."

By admitting that producers' co-operatives are a desirable enterprise he has in fact admitted that consumers co-operatives are also desirable. While Mr. Middleman might not see that both types of organizations are working for the same thing, elimination of middleman excess profit, the fact that right in the vicinity of Appleton many producers co-operatives are also sponsoring consumers co-operatives shows that the producers co-operatives understand the common ideal.

Secondly he charges by implication that consumers co-operative societies are only successful in competing with private business because they are (1) subsidized by the government, (2) are exempt from taxes, (3) are favored by legislation, and are (4) un-American. He quotes no facts to support any of these contentions except the statement that the pending Palmer chain store tax bill would favor co-operatives because they would be exempt.

To the first charge I would state for that I know of no consumers cooperative organization that has obtained any funds from the government. The only exceptions to this I find to be "organizations that are made up of members 95 per cent of whom are producers. The law excludes government help to all consumer societies unless they are at the same time producers. In others words the type of organization that "A Middleman" approves is subsidized by the government.

Our Appleton organization has never had any help from the government. We pay local property taxes, gasoline taxes, social security taxes, capital stock tax, and income tax on money put in surplus. Does any private business pay any more types of taxes? The charge that consumers co-operatives are exempt from taxation is not true. The only exception I have found from this statement is that again applying to organizations that are made up of at least 95 per cent producers. These are exempt from the surplus income tax assessment and again the type of co-op "A Middleman" approves.

I know of no state or federal law now existing that favors co-operatives over any other type of business. If Mr. Middleman means the laws under which co-operatives may incorporate to become legal bodies then the denial of these would be to deny them existence something that would be unfair to co-operatives. When the Patman act is passed will be time enough to argue whether it favors co-operatives.

Finally we come to the favorite charge of "un-Americanism." The answer to this depends on what one believes Americanism to be. If one believes it to be the attitude that every body should look out for himself and the devil take the hindmost; if it means the inherent right of certain privileged people to make excess profits from help to consumers then co-ops I believe would admit the charge of un-Americanism." If on the other hand is meant the carrying out of practice ideals for which our forefathers fought and died, namely democracy in its best sense, love of neighbor, liberty, and the right to real happiness then the charge is false. This charge is typical of the kind of charges made by many people to things that they do not like for selfish reasons. They cannot deny that people have a right to form co-operatives and the like because they know that we are guaranteed this right by our constitution. Failing in this they label them "un-American" or the other favorite is "communistic." Hitler got into power by using such tactics, raising the cry of "communism" to everything that was in his way until the people were so scared they embraced him.

Co-operatives have not grown much until the last twenty-five years as Mr. Middleman says. Many of our thriving co-operatives were formed in the terms of Presidents Wilson, Harding, Coolidge, Hoover, and Roosevelt. In saying that "we (I suppose he means all who agree with his position) are up against wild-eyed law makers" in trying "to curtail this government" A Middleman is laying serious charges before the administrations of all these former presidents many of whom all good Americans respect. Co-operatives are non-political in nature and seek not the favor of any political party in or out of power.

As a co-operator, and speaking for most all co-operators I would say that the co-operative movement will grow stronger and better without subsidization or help from any source. Whether co-operatives succeed under these conditions will depend on whether they are more or less efficient than their competitors. That they are succeeding in some measure seems to indicate that they are efficient competitors of private business. Healthy competition is usually all that private business asks.

To the first charge I would state for that I know of no consumers co-

CHILDREN ARE PEOPLE

From the moment the cord is cut and the first spanking is given (I hope it is so in "The Birth of a Baby") until the young American splits his or her ticket several ways to vote for the right candidates, there is always the hazard of pediatrics.

A pediatricist is a doctor who purports to be especially skilled in the diagnosis and treatment of diseases of, or, children. The grave fault with specialism today is that we have no general standard of qualification for specialists, no particular requirements the doctor must fulfill in order to become a full-fledged specialist in and field he fancies. Provided he has a license to practice medicine and surgery he may, at any time he desires, close up the old shop tonight, move into newly appointed offices perhaps in a more exclusive location, and tomorrow morning begin practice as a specialist, with "Practice Limited to Diseases of Children."

I have great respect for a real specialist. That is a doctor who has proved his ability in his particular line to the satisfaction of his medical colleagues, who call upon him for counsel when they encounter difficult or unusual cases.

If I understand what Webster says about it, many of the specialists competing with general practitioners for the patronage of the public today are quacks in ethical clothing. This applies not only to child specialists but to every other kind in the galaxy approved and fostered by the oligarchy of the A. M. A.

The specialist fad in this country has a good deal to do with the growing conviction that good medical service is too costly for the average family. Well, what can you expect when a snobbish little woman engages to pay a pediatricist $100 a month for advice on the care and feeding of the baby, which, if she had any sense, she could buy from any plain family doctor for $2 or get in any of a dozen pamphlets on Infant Care for a dime?

Ever since I began warning the public against the devices practiced and the false pretensions made by charlatans, in pursuance of my duty as prescribed by Sec. 3, Chapter IV, of the Principles of Medical Ethics promulgated by the American Medical Association, my stocks have been extremely low with the clique of politicians who have gained control of what great body of Yes-Men. Prior to the dictatorship for some fifteen years of it I had the most cordial co-operation from every department of the A.M.A. in my newspaper work. When I called public attention to Sec. 5 of Chap. III of the Principles of Medical Ethics, which declares that "it is unprofessional to receive remuneration from patents of surgical instruments or medicines," the headmaster's indignation was prodigious—and at the very next annual meeting of the A.M.A. the yes-men resolved that the time has come to revise this embarrassing code the medical fathers bequeathed us.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Vitamin E

Is there a vitamin E and, if so, what are its benefits? (Mrs. J. M.)

Answer — Yes. Possibly it promotes fertility in animals. Whether it has any essential value for man is still undetermined.

The Medicine Canhard

My sister, a great follower of yours, tells me she has a book you issued not long ago, giving many valuable formulas and practical suggestions for the home care of everyday ailments and emergencies. I'd like to get a copy.

(Mrs. W. M.)

Answer — Send twenty-five cents coin and three-cent-stamped envelope bearing your address, and ask for "The Medicine Cupboard." (Copyright, 1939)

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writer's names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Your Birthday

"CAPRICORN"

If January 15 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:45 a. m., to 12:45 p. m.; from 3:45 to 5:45 p. m., and from 7:45 to 9:45 p. m. The danger periods are from 8:45 to 10:45 a. m.; from 5:45 to 7:45 p. m., and from 9:45 to 11:45 p. m.

Treat your body kindly this day; do not overtax its strength. Physical disability, through the reckless disregard of nature's law of self-preservation and lack of ordinary precaution against accidents, seems to be the danger confronting the average person this day. Should your family or friends express a consensus on any subject that you need advice on, be very careful how you run counter to it, or turn a deaf ear to what they have to say. Most of us will have an urge to do just the contrary to what ever is expected of us, so be ready to suppress any such inclination.

Be sociable, for from personal contacts a great deal of pleasure is apt to be derived. Married and engaged couples, as well as those whose matrimonial hopes seem likely to be soon advanced through the formality of an engagement ring, will make the day safe from discord if they: "Be swift to hear, slow to speak, slow to wrath."

If a woman and January 15 is your birthday, you may confine your thinking to too many serious subjects. Divert your mind by indulging in social activities, if you wish your efficiency to be increased. You seem destined to win honors in either a social, business or professional way, if you have sufficient courage and perseverance. The important thing for you to do throughout your life is to keep your head erect, but not your nose up in the air. Through journalism, authorship, teaching, brokerage, painting or a highly specialized line in commercial work, your dreams of money, influence and position, are likely to come true. As you appear to be endowed with the power to love intensely, the chance is you will love deeply the man you marry and be greatly loved by him.

If a child born on January 15 may have to overcome a tendency to be bashful in front of strangers if properly encouraged, this youngster can develop selfpossession, so parents must do whatever they can to help it. High-spirited, children born on this date frequently appear to be unduly sensitive, so great care ought to be used in handling them.

If a man and Jan 15 is your natal day, if you will remember what Cervantes said: "It is the part of a wise man to keep himself today for tomorrow, and not to venture all his eggs in one basket," success should follow your adherence to this admonition. As a scientist, lawyer, chemist, biologist, composer, soldier, salesman, manufacturer, promoter, author, or financier your chances of making a success appear to be unlimited.

Successful People Born On January 15:

Meshnick Scores Top Series Count In Plywood League

Cracks 239 in Final Game
To Miss Circuit Record
by One Pin

Plywood League

Standings:	W. L.
Zaug's Pirates	6 0
Kroll's Bees	4 2
Frank's Cubs	6 3
Hank's Dodgers	6 3
Krueger's Giants	1 8
Ed's Reds	1 8

New London—Louis Meshnick hit the maples for a new high series in the Plywood league at Pahl's alleys last night with a 571 count. He cracked a 239 game in his last game to miss the single record by one pin. Backed by J. I. Felsner with a 548 count, Hank's Dodgers took three games from Krueger's Giants to keep the race for second place.

Zaug's Pirates crashed three victories over Ed's Reds to remain undefeated. They were paced by Sylvester Stern who pounded a 564 total and 213 game. The Cubs won two from the Bees on the North side alleys.

Men's Club League

Standings:	W. L.
Lippolds	30 24
Sawalls	27 27
Meshkes	27 27
Boeses	24 30

At the expense of two games off Boeses's Five, Meshkes knotted Sawalls for second place. The Rev. W. E. Pankow tossed high game of 209 for the winners while Ben Boeses's 214 and Al Handesche's 212 lines stood out for the losers. Spilling a 216 game in the last stanza for a 548 total, Roy Queeman led Lippolds in two victories over Sawalls.

Dates Selected For Play Contest

New London Future Farmers Will Sponsor Meet March 23-25

New London—Dates for the annual Rural Drama 1-act play contest sponsored by the New London Future Farmers of America have been set for Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 23, 24 and 25, by officers of the Rural Drama association according to L. M. Warner, treasurer and F.F.A. chapter adviser.

Rules for the 1-act play tournament will be the same as last year except that plays will be required to be at least 20 minutes in length. Three plays will be presented each night.

Entries will close Feb. 1. Contestants in the tournament are rural school and community clubs which form the drama association. Officers handling the details are Robert O'Brien, president; Miss Margaret Garrity, vice president; Miss Alva Thompson, secretary; and L. M. Warner, treasurer.

Promotion, ticket sales and stage management will be handled by the Future Farmer chapter as the tournament is its largest single money raising venture of the year.

John Bartensteins. Walter Schoenrocks On Florida Vacations

New London—Two New London couples left this morning to forget Wisconsin's winter weather and taste the warmth of the south.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bartenstein, 17 W. Cook street, plan to spend from six weeks to two months in Florida, traveling down the west coast and back up the east coast before stopping for a vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schoenrock, 302 W. Cook street, will visit scenes of interest en route to Florida and return on a trip lasting two to three weeks. They plan to stop at the Kentucky caves, visit places in Tennessee and Atlanta, Ga. and stop at Augustine, and Sebring, Fla. returning by a different route.

Salvage Car That Broke Through Ice

Move Equipment to Pull Second Machine From Lake Winnebago

Menasha—The automobile owned by Ray Watrowski, 828 Sixth street, Menasha, which broke through the ice on Lake Winnebago about 4 miles out from Lake Park on Jan. 6, was pulled out of the water after several hours of work Friday afternoon by Alex Dombrowski, Racine street, Menasha.

The spot where the car went through the ice had been marked and Dombrowski constructed a framework of timbers to spread the weight of the truck over the ice before raising the car with a small derrick. The ice is about 12 inches thick.

YOUNG CONSERVATIONISTS ERECT BIRD FEEDERS

Neenah—Five young conservationists, members of the Neenah High School Conservation club, are shown above placing one of the small bird feeders in a tree in Riverside park. They are, left to right, Bill Gore, Janet Stanton, Harold Stanelle, Shirley Thompson and Polly Drabheim. More than 15 small bird feeders have been placed in Riverside and Doty parks as well as backyards. The young conservationists also have placed more than 22 pheasant feeders in the woods in the vicinity of Neenah. The feeders have been built by the students. The state furnishes the feed for the pheasant hoppers and the students buy the feed for the small bird feeders. Armin Gerhardt is club adviser. (Post-Crescent Photo)

St. Patrick '5' In 27-4 Triumph

Defeat St. Therese of Appleton for 4th Straight Conference Win

Menasha—St. Patrick grade school cagers scored their fourth successive Catholic Boy conference victory Friday afternoon at St. A. Cook armory when they ran up an easy 27 to 4 victory over St. Therese of Appleton.

For Coach Claude Mayer's Shamrocks, Meyer was the outstanding scorer with six baskets. Kobinsky followed with five baskets while Koser and Koteski came through with two baskets each.

Hyland and Kobinsky were on their toes defensively to stop the St. Therese team from getting even close to the basket. The Shamrocks ran up a 8 to 1 lead during the first quarter and were ahead 17 to 1 at the half. At the end of the third quarter the Shamrocks led 23 to 2. They scored four more points in the final period while Bruhl scored the only field goal for St. Therese in the closing minutes of the game.

Mothers Told How To Answer Child's Questions on Sex

Social Hygienist Says Information Should be Given Gradually

Neenah—Declaring that how much can a child absorb and how much can be given in the regular process of growing up are important essentials in sex education, Miss Aimee Zillmer, social hygienist for the state board of health, who in private life is Mrs. E. White, told about 170 mothers gathered at the Neenah library for the second of the series of talks for the Mothers' Study club under the sponsorship of the Washington school Parent-Teacher association that children ask questions, not because they are sex curious, but because they are alert, questioning, normal people before whom life is unfolding.

The more information you can get tucked into the minds of these children before the low element enters, the better foundation you have laid for a normal acceptance of a normal part of life," the speaker stated. "You are the first one to get a crack at answering those questions and it is your responsibility to be prepared. Remember too that lots of questions can be answered without words."

Miss Zillmer cited cases from her experience and suggested ways of answering certain questions children ask although she cautioned her audience to remember that one answer is not the right answer for every child.

Warning parents against giving all the sex education information at once, Miss Zillmer said, "it will only bring bad results. It gives the child mental indigestion. You wouldn't expect that a teacher would cram arithmetic, fractions, division, algebra, geometry and trigonometry to say nothing of calculus into a child's course all at once."

The speaker told the group about a survey made by Minneapolis Mothers Study club members to determine the kinds of questions children ask. Out of 10,000 questions submitted, there were only 10 kinds, among them, "Where did I come from?" "Where do babies come from?" Are boys different than girls?"

"Training the Child in Sex Material" will be the topic of Miss Zillmer's third lecture Friday afternoon, Jan. 20.

Zephyr Bees Win From New London

Kaminski Paces St. Mary Reserves to 17 to 9 Victory Over Bulldogs

Menasha—St. Mary High school reserve cagers had little trouble running up a 17 to 9 victory over the New London Bees in a preliminary game Friday night at St. Mary's gymnasium. Kaminski was the high scorer for the Zephyr reserves with three baskets while Ciske followed with two. Taves, Burghardt and Foth counted one basket each while Taves added a free throw.

For New London, Herres and Mavis had three points each. The Zephyrs were slow in getting started. They were ahead 2 to 1 at the end of the quarter and 5 to 4 at the half. In the third period they stretched their advantage to four points, leading 11 to 7. They added six more points in the final period while New London counted only two points.

Shamrocks Face St. Mary CYO in Feature Contest

Twin City Round Will be Resumed Sunday at Zephyr Gym

Menasha—Twin City games will be resumed in the C. Y. O. league Sunday afternoon at St. Mary gymnasium with the St. Patrick and St. Mary teams meeting in the feature game at 3 o'clock.

The Shamrocks are undefeated in four league starts while the only defeat suffered by the St. Mary's team was at the hands of the Shamrocks in the opening league games. The St. Pat's team won that game by a 36 to 24 score. The 24 points scored by the former Zephyrs is the most scored against the Shamrocks this season. The other three teams have counted 17 points each against the league leaders. Against St. Margaret Mary the Shamrocks ran up 31 points, against St. John's they scored 29 and against St. Mary's of Oshkosh the Shamrocks scored 35.

After losing the first game, the former Zephyrs have run up three straight victories. They defeated St. John's of Menasha 29 to 24, won from St. Margaret Mary 31 to 23 and defeated St. Joseph at Oshkosh 35 to 16.

Neenah-St. John's
The St. Margaret Mary team of Neenah and St. John's of Menasha will play at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Each team has won a single game. The Neenah Saints defeated St. John's 32 to 19 in the first meeting but since then have lost three games.

The St. John team dropped its first three games but last week scored a 19 to 12 victory over St. John's of Oshkosh. The Polish lads have been showing improvement steadily and will be out for revenge Sunday.

Two preliminary games featuring girls teams from St. Mary and St. John parishes will be played Sunday afternoon. The St. Mary Scotties will play one team from St. John parish at 1:30 while the Marigolds will oppose the second team from St. John parish at 2:15.

Zimmerman Wants To Cut Red Tape for Motoring Public

Madison—(AP)—Secretary of State Fred R. Zimmerman Friday asked the legislature to cut red tape and promote economy in the licensing and regulation of more than 600,000 Wisconsin motor vehicle owners.

Asserting that present practices constitute an unnecessary burden upon the motoring public, Zimmerman said:

"A very brief survey of the situation reveals the fact that over 130,000 truck owners in particular may be obliged to deal with no less than five separate divisions of the state government every year."

"Furthermore, the individual motor vehicle owner in Wisconsin cannot legally turn a wheel until he has procured his license number plates, certificate of title and driver's license from the motor vehicle division of the department of state."

"If he owns a truck he must then obtain a private or public carrier permit from the public service commission."

"Motor vehicle lighting equipment must conform to regulations set up by the state industrial commission; motor vehicle accidents must be reported to the state highway commission; persons desiring to engage in the sale of motor vehicles are required to obtain a license from the state banking de-

Appleton Man Involved In Triple Road Crash

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau

No one was injured.

Post-Marriage Adjustments are Most Important

Social Hygienist Recommends Postponement Of Honeymoons

Neenah — Adequate adjustment after marriage, not the frills before marriage, were emphasized as the important thing in marriage by Miss Zillmer, social hygienist. Friday evening at the second of her series of lectures in the "Courtship and Marriage" course sponsored by the Twin City Y. W. C. A. at the "Y." About 145 young women attended.

Expressing the belief that a girl should follow the dictates of her own desires in the kind of a wedding she should have and not the dictates of even her best friends and relatives, Miss Zillmer stated that the best time to make adjustments in marriage was immediately after the marriage, in the home setting, with the so-called honeymoon postponed until a year later. "If, however, the honeymoon comes at the usual time the most important thing is to get the honeymoon over and adjust the marriage."

Stressing economy in furnishing a home, Miss Zillmer told the group that "not more than one fifth, never more than one fourth, of an income should be used for rent, every man should carry some kind of insurance, when buying furnishings, first consult your pocketbook, then your life, and don't buy furniture for life, things are not made for life nowadays."

"The speaker emphasized the importance of pleasing the husband in little things, such as what he would like to eat. 'It is the funniest thing how you can make the little things make dreams come true.'"

The third lecture will be given at 7:30 Friday evening, Dec. 20.

Two Trainmen Injured In Ohio Derailment

Defiance, Ohio—(AP)—Two trainmen were injured slightly and a score of passengers escaped injury today when a Washington passenger train bound for Toledo was wrecked.

The injured were Melvin R. Fryberger, engineer, and Elmer H. Myers, fireman, both of Toledo, cut and bruised.

The locomotive, trainmen said, jumped the track and overturned, derailing a mail and baggage car. A day coach and sleeping car remained on the rails.

Pegler Joins Highbrows to Argue About Road to Chaos

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER
New York—I have given deep study to many books, papers and speeches by leading economists of the New Deal on the gradual reflation of quantitative reserves to combine deficit financing and collective bargaining with the liquidation of human rights. The corollary seems to be the social conscription of agriculture.

Mr. Eccles, Mr. Thurman Arnold, Mr. Leon Henderson and, at times, Father Coughlin and Dr. Townsend have seemed to me to be in agreement on this radical proposal.

If I interpret them aright—and I sometimes doubt that I fully understand them in some particulars—this position marks a dangerous departure from the traditional capitalist concept of social and industrial transition. Property rights inevitably abdicate to political commitments of imponderable force which everywhere conflict with tax relief and liberty of conscience.

Mr. Eccles, he it said, appears to favor the middle way, while Mr. Arnold's position seems to me to place him a little to the left of totalitarian wage-levelism in the subnormal areas of intellectual orientation. That is my understanding.

So much for that, and I may say that I find myself in partial agreement to the point where this theory defies the fundamental standpoint of economy tyranny in the intermittent cycles of politico-corporate finance. I have to dissent there, holding that the experience of the last half-century provides ample proof and warning that a simplified control of constitutional alignments is no guarantee of non-productive timetables. There is no proved formula in all economic knowledge for the absolute implementation of compulsory expansion and social compulsion.

The contrary, I insist, is just cockeyed. It simply doesn't make sense, and no cockeyed jinnism can make it make sense.

Schultz of Vienna wrote, more than 200 years ago—"By creating wealth the state receives the indispensable factor of fiduciary expediency which is co-existent with the judicial acceptance of private enterprise as an annual living wage."

That is as true today as it was then. Violate This Rule

And Things Go Haywire
Every attempt to violate this elementary absolute of simple economics has produced a profound deterioration in the federal reserve, where there is always a wise tendency to discount industrial feudalism if accompanied by democratic guarantees and a fair volume of electoral resources. None by a visionary theorist will argue against the demonstrated realities of a field of abstract socialism conditioned by the fiduciary habits of human dignity.

Altho, therefore, need be vitiated only by the simple pressure of international usury, as shown by the bloody ignominies of count-ess economic adventures from Robespierre in the middle ages down to Giuseppe Avanti, whose economic heresies wrecked the

That way lies chaos.

As to Mr. Henderson's contention that I comprehend his warning, it need only be remarked that the underlying view is not essential to an accurate conviction in advance of imperative reforms. To attempt any complete hypothesis of currency values in this apparent paradox, to gamble commodities against the future and, I think, fallacious parallel of sound money, is a vicious acceptance of international manipulation and the forerunner of a proletarian oligarchy.

The fatal delusion of raucous altruism controls the vexed problem of religious principle, while so-called experts argue and future events mock the struggle for an equitable flow of purchasing debentures.

That way lies chaos.

Commissioner Asks Board to Help Organize Safety Council And Work Out County Program

Chilton — The Calumet county board of supervisors completed a two and one half day session Thursday afternoon. The meeting was given over mainly to routine matters, such as the hearing and adoption of reports.

Ray Jensen, county highway commissioner, presented his annual report, showing total expenditures for state trunk general maintenance, $16,574; work of repairing and seeding shoulders of Highway 57, $2,807.80; patching concrete trucks, $1,914.69; state trunk snow removal and drift prevention, $18,969.35; highway administration, $5,538.93; county snow removal, drift and ice prevention, $9,559.35; general maintenance and betterment of county trunks, $12,284.53. The inventory of the highway department, including materials, supplies, shop equipment, machinery and garage building, was listed as $164,432.30. Maintenance of the age for the year, including cost of water, light, fuel and miscellaneous repairs was $1,690.87.

Mr. Jensen asked support of the county board to help organize a safety council and to work out a safety program. Chairman Edward Bonk was authorized to appoint a committee of three to assist the highway commissioner in this work, and he appointed G. L. Levere, E. J. Edens and Charles Groeschel, who are to work with out competition. Mr. Jensen and the committee were authorized to attend the annual road school in Milwaukee.

The total amount collected for outdoor poor relief amounted to $5,051.31 for the year. Marriage licenses issued during the year totaled 41, the fees amounting to $70.50. Miss Eliza Barlett was re-elected as county nurse for the coming year.

The report of County Treasurer J. J. Grimm showed total receipts for 1938 to be $55,595.20, and expenditures $55,555.88.

The board approved bonds for county officers.

A group of men from the towns of Rantoul and Charlestown appeared in regard to clearing the Manitowish river of rice beds in the town of Rockland, Manitowish county. The district attorney was instructed to confer with the conservation department and the Wisconsin Health Service commission to get the necessary information so that the proper correction can be made in regard to this matter.

Mrs. John Meitz entertained the following guests Tuesday evening in honor of her birthday: Mr. and Mrs. John Reinke, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Meitz, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Meitz, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Michael Gruber, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gehlke and Mr. and Mrs. John Miller. The evening was spent in playing cards.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rau entertained their bridge club Tuesday night, high scores being made by Mrs. Thomas Hertel and Edward Bonk.

Mrs. Selma Haeslev was hostess to the Ladies' Aid society Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Arthur Mortimer was host-

Roosevelt's Defense Message Deflates Much of War Hysteria

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER
Washington—Roosevelt's moderate national defense message deflates much of the hysteria which has developed during the last few weeks. His requests are considerably below some of the forecasts and reflect what his military advisers consider adequate.

Mainly Roosevelt asks for 3,000 more army airplanes plus an unstated number of navy planes, perhaps a hundred at most. He would more than double the army's authorized air strength of 2,300 planes. Last year congress authorized expansion of the naval air force to 3,000 planes. So that we now contemplate a total air strength of 8,300 planes or perhaps a hundred or so more than that.

Some military experts doubt if we need an additional 3,000 army planes. On the other hand, there has been strong clamor for a gigantic air expansion of two or three times that number, so that everything considered, the request strikes a reasonable balance.

Although that is the dramatic side of the message and cash up more than half of the $552,000,000 asked for the more modest items are much more significant—such as the $44,000,000 for creating or expanding naval air and submarine bases, particularly at outlying locations in the Pacific and the Caribbean area, and the strengthening of the Panama canal garrison.

National defense requests must be looked at in the light of our problem. Germany's spectacular air power has stirred this country into an impulse to duplicate her air force. That would be a sound impulse if we were a close neighbor of Germany.

Our problem, however, is entirely different than it would be if we were living on the Rhine or on the Sea of Japan. Our problem, so far as our announced policy goes, is to repel any attack on the western hemisphere. Such attack must come from across either the Atlantic or the Pacific. It will not come, in the foreseeable future, from either Great Britain or France. The only nations, practically, which we have in mind as possible aggressors, are Germany and Japan.

Can't Reach U. S. Shore Without Beating Navy
Neither Germany nor Japan can reach the shores of the western hemisphere without first defeating our navy. True, they could conceivably sneak aircraft carriers within striking distance and send off some planes for quick bombing raids, possibly inflicting considerable damage.

The difficulties of such raids are enormous and the risks extreme. There is no real military advantage to be gained from them. Such raids take no territory, hold no ground, and cannot be followed up so long as the American navy dominates the western Atlantic and the Pacific from Hawaii east.

Outpost air and submarine bases, such as are proposed in the recent Hepburn report, and intended in part to give us additional protection against such raids. As far as the air is concerned, we are not in danger of heavy air attack but only of isolated suicide raids. Britain Can't Permit Loss of Sea Control

The real defense of the United States is in its navy. No power can think of invading the United States or any section of the western hemisphere without first overcoming our navy. So long as our fleet is on guard, no power could establish the lines of communication necessary to transport men, munitions and supplies across either ocean. We could never have sent an army to France unless our side had controlled the seas.

Germany has no sea power as yet and is in no position on the continent to turn a military offensive against the western hemisphere even if she had a real navy. The British empire can exist only so long as the sea is under control and the British fleet can not lie idle if American naval power should ever be threatened. Britain could not afford to permit such power to pass into threatening hands.

Roughly, Roosevelt is asking for additional air strength to be distributed around at strategic locations as additional insurance against the fire which, in some extremely remote possibility, might reach our shores. If these planes are ever used, it is more likely that they will get into action by being transferred to the British or French in event of war in Europe.

25 Young Women to Entertain At Barn Dance Tonight After Lawrence-Carleton Cage Game

A BARN dance with all the trimmings — cornstalks, lanterns and hay for decoration and a 5-piece orchestra and caller for square dances—will be given tonight at the Conway hotel annex by a group of 25 young women, most of them Lawrence college coeds. The party will begin at 10 o'clock, after the Lawrence-Carleton basketball game, and end at 1 o'clock, and the 60 some guests have been asked to come in overalls or other appropriate farm clothes.

Hostesses at the affair will be the Misses Mary Young, Barbara Rounds, Betty White, Mary White, Lucille Heinritz, Jean Koffend and Mary Koffend, Appleton; Alice Perry Bergstrom, Ged Kuehnsted and Martot Gilbert, Neenah; Kay Tuchscherer, Menasha; Monica Worsley, Racine; Ruth Gray and Peg Powers, Chicago; Virginia Richardson and Florence Johnson, Evanston; Jean West and Beverly Humlekier, Fond du Lac; Harriette Peters and Marguerite Gotschalk, Milwaukee; Betty Johnson, Mayville; Jean Bennie, Green Bay; and Janet Weber, Winnetka, Ill.; Lucille Leffingwell, Whitewater, Wis.; and Mary Abbott Sawtelle, Oshkosh.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Giesen, 217 W. Pacific street, will entertain at a public dance Friday evening, Jan. 20, at Eagles hall in celebration of their silver wedding anniversary. An orchestra will play for dancing. The affair will be free and open to the public.

Prizes will be given for the most original costumes, the most beautiful and the most humorous at the masquerade ball which will be given tonight at Castle hall by Delta Gamma sorority. Unmasking will take place at about the fifth dance. Chaperons at the affair will be Dr. and Mrs. Lawrence Towle, Dr. and Mrs. Lincoln Thiesmeyer and Mr. and Mrs. F. Theodore Clock, and the guest list includes Dr. and Mrs. Thomas N. Barrows, Dr. and Mrs. John Millis, Miss Ruth Cope, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Schmidt and Mr. and Mrs. William Giese. Miss Mary Voeks, Appleton, is in charge of arrangements for the ball.

Yesterday's snowfall made possible Friday night Beta Theta Pi fraternity's previously postponed sleighride, and about 12 members of the fraternity and their girls took advantage of the perfect weather and joined the party. They stopped in a restaurant for refreshments after the ride. George Burrows, Fond du Lac, was in charge of arrangements for the party.

Forty persons played at the card party given Friday afternoon at Columbia hall by the Christian Mothers society of St. Mary Catholic church. Winners at bridge were Mrs. Dale Coley and Mrs. Frank Massonnet, and at schafkopf, Mrs. John Vander Maus, Mrs. Harold Parish and Mrs. Anna Doerfler. Mrs. Dora Brown won the special prize. Another party will be given next Friday.

Mrs. H. J. Weller, 905 N. Rankin street, entertained three tables of contract bridge Friday night at her home. Prizes were won by Mrs. Clyde Gabbert, Mrs. Roy Hoel and Mrs. Peter De Lain.

Twenty tables of cards were in play in the afternoon and 23 tables in the evening at the benefit card party given by Valparaiso Guild Friday at the home of Mrs. William H. Zuehlke, 224 W. Prospect avenue. The sponsoring committee included Mrs. A. O. Benz, Mrs. W. F. Kelm, Mrs. A. H. Popp, Mrs. H. O. Wurl, Miss Marie Ziegenfagen, Mrs. Frank Weinkauff and Mrs. Louis Freude. A prize was given the high scorer at each table.

Miss Pat Ehle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Ehle, who left today for a month's trip through the south, was guest of honor at a farewell party given by the Four Topers Thursday night at the home of Miss Shirley Barker, 909 N. Division street. The club will meet Sunday, Jan. 22 with Miss Mary Jane Verwey, N. Appleton street.

Guest day will be observed by Lady Elks at 2:30 next Wednesday afternoon at Elk hall. Pivot contract and progressive auction bridge will be played and hostesses will be Mrs. A. G. Koch, Mrs. Reinhard Wenzel, Mrs. Rollin J. Manser, Mrs. George Noll, Mrs. Peter Trass and Mrs. Louis Lohman.

Richard Mauthe, Jane Lavino and Jerry Rogers, dance pupils of Vesper Chamberlin, presented specialties and Miss Marion Rule gave a piano solo at the dance given by Sons of the American Legion last night at the Legion club house. About 150 young people attended.

Fraternities of Eagles will sponsor an open card party at 2:30 Sunday afternoon at Eagle hall. Schafkopf and dice will be played.

C. D. Fox, dressed as Buffalo Bill, won first prize for men's costumes and Mrs. Stewart Elmer as an Indian girl the best for women at the hard-time costume party given by Mr. and Mrs. club of First Congregational church, Friday night at the church. Games were played and small prizes given the winners. About 25 persons were present. The committee in charge included Mr. and Mrs. Vic-

Four Coeds Named To Court of Honor

Madison — (AP) — Four coeds of the University of Wisconsin were named today to the court of honor for Miss Adeline Olsen, Milwaukee, queen of the 1939 prom, to replace four others declared ineligible by the dean of women's office.

They were Geraldine Anderson, Chippewa Falls, junior; Ada Mae Follett, Coloma, sophomore; Cecelia Moore, Highland Park, Ill., junior, and Marjorie Tripp, Whitewater, sophomore.

With Mary Margaret Adams, Wauwatosa, sophomore and Alicia Hume, Chilton, junior, the four will serve on the court of honor and their pictures will appear in the 1939 Badger, university yearbook.

The four originally selected were disqualified because three were freshmen and the other was not regularly enrolled.

Mrs. Orville Meltz - Jo Ann - Judith

Readers of the society page are "seeing double" today as three sets of Appleton twins are presented in informal poses with their mothers. A tea party was in progress at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pannier, 1404 N. Superior street, when the Post-Crescent photographer dropped in and took the picture at the top of the layout. Nancy Ann, left, concentrates on "pouring" while Joann looks around to see what's going on. The little girls are two years old. At the wheel of the shiny new streamlined automobile in the center picture is Maurey Lee Allen, Jr., 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurey Lee Allen, 1122 N. Lemnaw street, while his twin sister, Nora Linn, stands beside her mother, ready to have her turn. "Going places" are the 2-year-old twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Meltz, 535 W. Washington street, shown with their mother in the lower picture. Judith, right, is intent on getting to her destination, but Jo-Ann, showing theatrical tendencies, gives the camera a full-face view. Twin harnesses help Mrs. Meltz to keep track of her daughters while out walking and solve the problem of their turning in opposite directions when they come to a corner. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Hubert Possesses 2 Invaluable 'Cellos; Recital Here Jan. 20

Marcel Hubert, eminent 'cellist, who will present a recital at Memorial chapel Friday night, Jan. 20, possesses two beautiful 'cellos which are famed for mellow tone, exquisite workmanship, and age.

One was made in 1703 by Grancino, one of the great Italian masters. The instrument was presented to Andrew Hekkinz, Hubert's instructor, after the young 'cellist had made a successful debut as soloist with the Colonne orchestra, one of the foremost in France.

The donor asked Hekkinz to keep his name from Hubert for several years and it was not until this period of time had elapsed that Hubert came to know his benefactor. The wood of the 'cello is gradually becoming thinner, meaning that Hubert will be the last artist to play on it, and that it probably will soon become a museum piece.

The instrument which Hubert takes on tour as a Montagnana, dating from 1728, Montagnana was Stradivarius' gifted pupil and his 'cellos rank with the Stradivarius violins. The instrument is a fine example of the master's work and is in excellent condition. Hubert calls it "Le Roi Soleil" after the famous Louis of France.

MovieLand Its People and Products

By Jimmie Fidler

Hollywood — We used to laugh at "Little Ed Luddy." About eighteen years ago, when I first came to Hollywood, he was struggling for recognition on Poverty Row—directing occasional two-reel comedies for the old Century Company. They weren't very good comedies, but no one held that against Ed — Century Comedies were not to be laughed at, anyway. The point is that Ed Luddy, somewhat undersized and none too aggressive, was just one of those two-reel directors who seemed fated to travel a cinematic treadmill for the rest of a colorless existence. He talked a lot about being a big director "some day" but any producer would have laughed him off the lot had he actually applied for a chance on a super production. He seemed tabbed and doomed.

But no one is laughing today at Edward Ludwig, the genius who directed "That Certain Age" and who is scheduled to direct the next Danielle Darrieux colossal. Hollywood saalaams when he goes by and every one is asking, "Where did he come from — is he a great new foreign find?" He's the lion of the hour. And yet, he's just little Eddy Luddy, the same guy who used to direct two-reel awfuls and talk about being a great director "some day." It took him eighteen years to make good, and he had to change his name to live down the groove he used to travel in, but he's Edward Ludwig, the great director, now.

And I'm wondering just how many more Ed Luddys are eating their hearts out in Hollywood's byways because the men who should recognize genius, but seldom do, refused to give them a break?

PERSONAL OBSERVATION:

Even when Johnny Weissmuller's hair is freshly cut, he has that same shaggy look. Sixteen-year-old Deanna Durbin's air of complete maturity makes me feel childish by comparison. Add knuckle-poppers: Hugh Herbert. I've never known anyone who could be so bored and so polite at the same time. Louise Campbell's laugh is so contagious that everyone within hearing invariably relaxes and grins. Dick Powell never sits — he merely slumps.

Maybe I'm wrong but it does seem that a tinge of pomposity is creeping into Gary Cooper's famous reserve. No actor in Hollywood is more genuinely human than Ronald Colman when you know him—that aloofness is really defensive shyness. A few years added to his waistline and you'll never guess Bing Crosby was once an athlete. There's only one word for the expression that floods every woman's eyes on meeting Madeleine Carroll — envious. If there's a puddle of water in the street, Ginger Rogers is a cinch to try jumping it. Clark Gable may be one of the screen's great lovers, but there's surprisingly little sentiment about the guy.

While most stars merely talk about "getting away from it all," Florence Rice has done it for the past two years and yet lived within a ten-minute drive of the studio. Her house stands squarely in the middle of the great oil field on the beach just south of Venice. Mr. and Mrs. Public think, erroneously, that the referee oil is dumped into the briny there, consequently they avoid that stretch of sand. As a matter of fact, it's one of the best spots on the whole coast for a plunge, and Florence, without owning a foot of ground, has it's exclusive use.

Robert Taylor, while attending Pomona college, was discovered by a talent scout attending a college production of "Journey's End." What followed is cinema history. Today, Mr. Taylor is one of the top stars in the industry. His next picture will be with Wallace Berry in "Stand Up and Fight."

Even Garbo couldn't ask a better homesite.

Wonder how many of you knew that Martha Raye, in spite of her screen and radio work, still finds time to attend a student nursing school in one of Hollywood's large hospitals twice a week? In order to avoid publicity, she uses the name of her secretary, Jean Roth. Now an advanced pupil, she expects to qualify for a diploma this spring.

A near brawl on the "Broadway Cavaler" set at Warner Brothers this morning. Maxie Rosenbloom and Jack Roper, a local heavy-weight, were fistbumping while a mob of extras cheered. Maxie chided Mr. Roper for not pulling his punches, whereupon Roper flared up and suggested a real fight. Nothing doing. "Listen, you," said the great Rosenbloom, "When I fight the spectators pay—instead of getting Guild wages for watching!" (Copyright, 1938)

V. C. Mack Is Elected Credit Union Director

Clintonville — The F. W. D. Credit Union held its annual meeting Tuesday evening at the office rooms of the company on E. Twelfth street. The members voted to become affiliated with the Wisconsin Credit Union League and the National Association for a period of one year. There are at present about 500 credit unions in Wisconsin and about 5,000 in the United States.

V. C. Mack was elected a director to succeed E. W. Cleveland, while Wallace Gates and Frank Sinkewicz were reelected as directors. Other members of the board are: Clarence Rohrer, R. P. Hatch, Arnold Schroeder and Herman Schultz. Frank McIntyre was elected to the credit committee for three years to succeed Herman Nehring. Other members of this committee are Nick Schmidt and Otto Schellien.

The F. W. D. Credit Union is an organization consisting of employees of the Four Wheel Drive Auto company or members of their families. The union is under the supervision of the Wisconsin Banking department and the state laws. The organization was founded in 1935 and has enjoyed a steady growth since that time. During 1938, 272 loans were made totaling $10,972.55. The average amount of a loan is $40.34. Since the union was organized, 747 loans averaging $39.85 have been made. These totaled $29,766.42. At the December meeting, the directors voted to pay 2 per cent dividend to shareholders, a complete financial report of the year's business was given by the treasurer, Frank Sinkewicz.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Heuer left Wednesday to spend the remainder of the week in Chicago.

BOOK REVIEW Harry Franck's New Travel Book Certain to Arouse the Wanderlust

By Jean Wiley Thickens

"SKY ROAMING ABOVE TWO CONTINENTS" by Harry A. Franck.

Guaranteed to give the most confirmed stick-at-home a severe attack of wanderlust is Harry Franck's latest travel book "Sky Roaming Above Two Continents." Mr. Franck is probably our most distinguished and certainly our most consistent globe trotter, having been engaged in this delightful occupation since he was a callow youth in his late teens. He has travelled by ship, plane, motor, camel, burro and afoot. His list of books includes "Roaming in Hawaii," "Working North from Patagonia," "Wandering in Northern China," "Canal Zone Policeman," and a mere matter of 16 others.

He speaks several foreign languages fluently and seems to be equally at home in a New York night club or a thatched hut in Siam. Possessing broad tolerance for the peculiarities of foreigners makes them welcome him like a blood brother, thereby giving him the priceless opportunity to study them in familiar surroundings, the only real method of learning to know strange peoples. He is a walking encyclopedia of interesting information which he dishes out to his readers so well seasoned with pungent wit and keen insight that they don't realize they are being instructed.

Uses Airplanes

On this last voyage of a little over two months, Mr. Franck has been able to cover thoroughly Central America and the enchanted islands of the Caribbean by Pan American Airways, a voyage which would have required as many years by land and ocean travel, and a great deal more discomfort.

Mr. Franck's discoveries on this last visit include such interesting though irrelevant facts as that Costa Rica is the best governed of all the Central American republics; that Hindu weddings for which he attended on the island of Trinidad must always be a complete surprise to the bride, even as to who her prospective bridegroom will be; that in the year 1632 the young wife of the English governor of Antigua was kidnapped by a Carib Indian chief and even though the frantic governor eventually recovered his lovely wife, he soon died of a suspicion that she would have preferred not to be ransomed.

We learn for the first time about the tiny island of Saba with a total population of 2,000 and with its single town nestling in the bottom of an extinct volcano. Access to this strange town from the outside world can only be accomplished by climbing 800 steep steps carved into the solid rock which rises sheer from the ocean. After attaining the summit the weary sight-seer must then descend another 800 steps on the inside of the crater to reach the village, at the bottom. Saba is peopled by blue eyed yellow haired people with no colored blood and is the only one of the Caribbean islands which has never been fought over repeatedly by the Europeans nations, due to its fortunate inaccessibility.

Mr. Franck seems always eager to present the admirable features of each country he has visited and this happy faculty makes the reader forget the dirt, the smells, the lack of modern sanitation which are so much a part of most tropical countries. His book is profusely illustrated with beautiful photographs and most of them have been taken by the author himself which proves conclusively that Mr. Franck is not only a writer of note, but an artist of no small merit. For anyone who is contemplating a trip to the lands described in this book, or to one who has already been there, "Sky Roaming Above Two Continents" would make an ideal gift.

Funeral Rites Held For Howard Infant

Sugar Bush—Private funeral services were held yesterday for Dorothy Mae, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Howard, Sugar Bush, who died Thursday afternoon. The services were held at the home with the Rev. I. M. M. Boettcher in charge. Burial was in the Sugar Bush cemetery.

The infant was born Sept. 26, 1938. Survivors, besides the parents, are two brothers, Harvey and Arthur; four sisters, Frieda, Ethel, Sylvia, and Joyce, all at home.

CHURCH OFFICERS REELECTED Hellandtown — Mr. and Mrs. Mike Brooks are making their home on their farm near Askeaton. They formerly lived at Dunes.

At the St. Francis parish annual meeting all the officers and trustees were reelected to serve another term.

KIMBERLY—In a game that had everybody's nerves tingling, including those of Ed Mullen, all-American guard of the Oshkosh pros, the high school cagers defeated Denmark 19 to 14 at the high school gym last night.

The game proved to the packed auditorium that the Papermakers are of championship calibre. They came from behind in the last quarter to score nine points while holding the Vikings to one. Pete Preboski, star forward of the Oshkosh Pros, operated the electric time clock.

With the game one minute old, LaBerge made good on his free throw when fouled by Rasmussen, only to have Kriwanek tie the score when fouled by LaBerge. Williams fouled Dimmer and the Vikings leading 2 to 1. Christensen found the hoop with a neat shot from the side court and the quarter ended 4 to 1 in favor of the visitors.

Dimmer shot from side court, the ball rolled around the rim and finally went in to send Denmark's large delegation of rooters wild with joy as the second quarter opened. Williams made one of his two tries when fouled by Schleis but Dimmer retaliated when fouled by Vanden Boogaard. Langenberg took a long shot which connected and was Kimberly's turn to whoop it up with Vanden Boogaard making another point on a gift shot. Dimmer put a gloom on the Papermakers' hopes by connecting on a rebound but Vanden Boogaard put the home boys back in the game with a neat shot from the side court just as the half ended with Denmark leading 10 to 7.

Denmark Leads, 13-10

Dimmer took aim and sank a long looping shot to open the third period. It was perfect and a moment later he made good on a free throw. Fleweger replaced Williams and soon rang up a bucket. VanDyke, when fouled by Dimmer, made good on his try with the third quarter ending in favor of the Vikings 13 to 10.

The last period opened with Van Dyke fouling Dimmer who added one more point for the sailors. Kimberly took time out and then began playing with determination and fire in their eyes. Fleweger made a point. Vanden Boogaard, on a pass from Fleweger, got a bucket. Van Dyke got two points when fouled and the Papermakers were a point ahead, 15 to 14, as the roof shook when the local crowd let loose. Langenberg and Fleweger each connected for a bucket that ended the game. And thus the game ended, with the Papermakers squaring themselves for the defeat they received last spring in the regional meet at DePere.

The Kimberly B's had little trouble defeating the Denmark B's in the preliminary, 20 to 5. At the quarter Kimberly was ahead 10 to 0 while at the half the visitors were still scoreless with Kimberly out in front with 14 points. In the third period Kimberly was leading 13 to 10.

UPSET HORTONVILLE

Freedom—The "Dinky Doodle" is a thing to beware of and so are the Freedom High school cagers for they knocked off Hortonville by a 21 to 20 score in a Western division tilt of the Little Nine conference here last night. Murphy bucketed two points with 20 seconds to go and handed Hortonville its first defeat in five conference starts.

Hortonville showed a 6 to 5 edge at the end of the first quarter but Freedom got up steam and scored nine points while holding Hortonville to two during the second quarter and showed a 14 to 3 advantage at halftime. Hortonville narrowed the lead to 18 to 17 in the third period. Freedom led during most of the last quarter but Hortonville took a 20 to 19 lead which was wiped out when Murphy field goal in the closing seconds of play. The game ended with Hortonville shooting from under its own basket.

Kimberly Team Beats St. Joseph's Squad

Kimberly—Holy Name grade school cagers defeated St. Joseph's Appleton, 15 to 4 at the clubhouse Friday afternoon. Fleweger was high scorer for Kimberly with five buckets, a total of 10 points. A large audience witnessed the game.

SHIOCTON COPS THRILLER

Shiocton—Shiocton High school cagers indicated they'll be a contender in the Western division of the Little Nine conference yet this season by defeating Winneconne here last night, 26 to 25. The teams played two overtimes and finally tossed free throws to decide the winner.

Wardell, forward, is the hero of Shiocton fans today. It was he who canned a goal to tie the score and send the game into the first extra period. He then got a goal in the overtime to keep the score tied and dropped the deciding free throw when the game resolved itself into a tossing contest.

Winneconne led 6 to 2 at the quarter but Shiocton was in front 10 to 8 at the half. The end of the first period saw the score tied at 18-all. With Winneconne ahead at a few seconds left, Wardell scored for Shiocton and the regular period ended 21-all. In the first overtime Bartelt, who scored six goals for Winneconne, got a bucket to put his team ahead but again Wardell tied the score. The second overtime was scoreless and then the team started tossing free throws. Each team had two when Wardell stepped up and canned the deciding shot.

MANAWA—Manawa High school basketballers stayed on top in the Central Wisconsin loop by defeating a scrappy Iola five, 25 to 18, Friday night at Manawa. In the loosely played battle, Iola's defense had Manawa in check in the opening minutes but the Wolves found their range and piled up a 13 to 8 lead at the half. The third period was an even tussle with the Wolves counting five while the Norskies got four. In the fourth quarter, Iola scored three field goals while Manawa counted five points on two field shots and a free toss. Gehrke led the scoring for Manawa with eight points on three goals and two gift shots. Sorensen, Norskie guard, led the Iola attack with six points on three goals.

In the third game of the evening Manawa City team, leaders in the Bi-County league, handed Bowler its first defeat Friday in nine conference games. Dave Nolan led the scoring for Manawa with 11 points on 5 field goals and a free toss while Sid Felts led the losers with nine points on four goals and a free toss.

In the preliminary game, featuring the Manawa Bees and Iola Bees, the local lads were defeated, 11 to 12, in an overtime game.

TRIP WAUPACA

Waupaca—Weyauwega High school cagers provided somewhat of an upset in Central Wisconsin conference play here last night when they trimmed Waupaca by a 29 to 24 margin. The game was close from start to finish with Waupaca threatening Weyauwega's scant advantages of 9 to 6, 14 to 10 and 22 to 20 at the end of the first three quarters.

Hertz was the big gun of the Weyauwega attack with five buckets and four free throws for fourteen points while Chaffee paced the losers with three field goals and three gift shots for nine points. Weyauwega reserves downed the Waupaca seconds by a 14 to 12 count.

Marquette Bows To Temple Five

Milwaukee Team Loses Three Regulars on Fouls; Score, 38-36

Philadelphia—(P)—Losing three regulars on fouls before the game ended, Marquette University dropped a 38 to 36 basketball decision to Temple last night before 3,000 fans in convention hall.

The long-distance sharpshooting of Dave Quabius, Marquette guard, kept the Milwaukeeans in the running until he with Sparky Adams and Moose Graf took to the bench. Quabius connected for six buckets. Bobby Deenen sank four and a pair of free throws.

Temple held an 18-17 lead at the half and increased it in the final period, but Marquette came up with a stretch drive to cut the margin to 36-34. The best Marquette do after that, however, was to match a basket by Fox with one by Chuck Hammer who replaced Graf.

Seventeen fouls were called on Marquette, and eight on Temple.

POINTERS COP

DePere—(P)—Marking up their ninth straight victory, Central State Teachers of Stevens Point defeated St. Norbert college in basketball last night, 47 to 35. St. Norbert led at the half, 18 to 15, with the lead changing hands four times in the second half. Twenty-five fouls were called on the Green Knights, 19 on Central.

AND MILWAUKEE PEDS

Milwaukee—(P)—Milwaukee Teachers romped to a 29 to 31 basketball victory over Plattville Teachers last night after holding a 20 to 18 advantage at the half. Larry Buehler scored 13 points for Milwaukee.

West Palm Beach, Fla.—Jocelyn Green, 135, Washington, D. C., outpointed Carl Sivers, 137, Jacksonville, Fla., (10).

Ohio State, Michigan Favored In Tonight's Big Ten Games; Davis Quits Wisconsin Squad

BY EARL HILLIGAN

CHICAGO—(P)—The Big Ten basketball championship race, which promises more surprise developments than any in recent seasons, comes up with another five-game blast of action tonight.

While Michigan will be trying to stop Minnesota's charge toward a third straight conference victory, the stoutest darkhorse of the title scramble, Ohio State, will attempt to remain in the undefeated class at the expense of Northwestern.

Chicago's Maroons entertain Illinois, Wisconsin goes against Indiana at Bloomington and Purdue's title-holding Boilermakers take on Iowa at Iowa City.

From the evening's dueling may come some indication of the final windup, Purdue, according to Coach Ward Lambert, hasn't the power of the squad which took the 1937-38 crown. Lambert picks Minnesota, Indiana and Ohio State as the clubs which will fight it out for the championship.

Minnesota's smooth machine will be favored to trip Michigan, which downed Northwestern and lost to Illinois. But should Jim Rae find the range the Wolverines would have an excellent chance of staging an upset.

Ohio Over Northwestern
Ohio State, impressive in its victory over Indiana, rates the call over Northwestern. The Buckeyes have been threatening to crash the title picture for several seasons and this year have a veteran team which may turn the trick. This game will be played at Evanston, The Illinois-Chicago battle should be a thriller.

Illinois, winner of one game and loser of another, will be the favorite but Chicago has enough to win, especially if Dick Lounsbury is on his game. The Maroons, winners of only three conference games out of 48 in the last four seasons, may get a real hardwood renaissance under way if they come through tonight.

Wisconsin was without the services of Ernie Davis, veteran guard who turned in his suit yesterday because of the press of medical course classwork. Indiana, accordingly, was a strong favorite to hand Wisconsin its second defeat, the Badgers having lost to Chicago after defeating Iowa.

Purdue may have trouble stopping Iowa's Ben Stephens. The lanky forward has tallied 33 points in two losing contests. Purdue won its first and only start against Northwestern.

GLENN Arthur's 225 game and LENN De Lain's 615 series were standouts in the Eastern bowling league matches at Elks alleys last night.

Arthur turned in another game for 202 and finished with a 598 series. LaRose tapped a 202, and Morrissey a 205 as Yale won two from Army. For the losers, H. Gerhart knocked off a 559 series, J. Voight a 214, and A. Gloss 221.

De Lain had games of 224 and 222 in reaching his high series and his teammate, J. Hantschel, hit a 205 game, but their Navy team dropped two games to Pennsylvania. For the Quakers, Blyth hit 203 and 574 and Harrington 222.

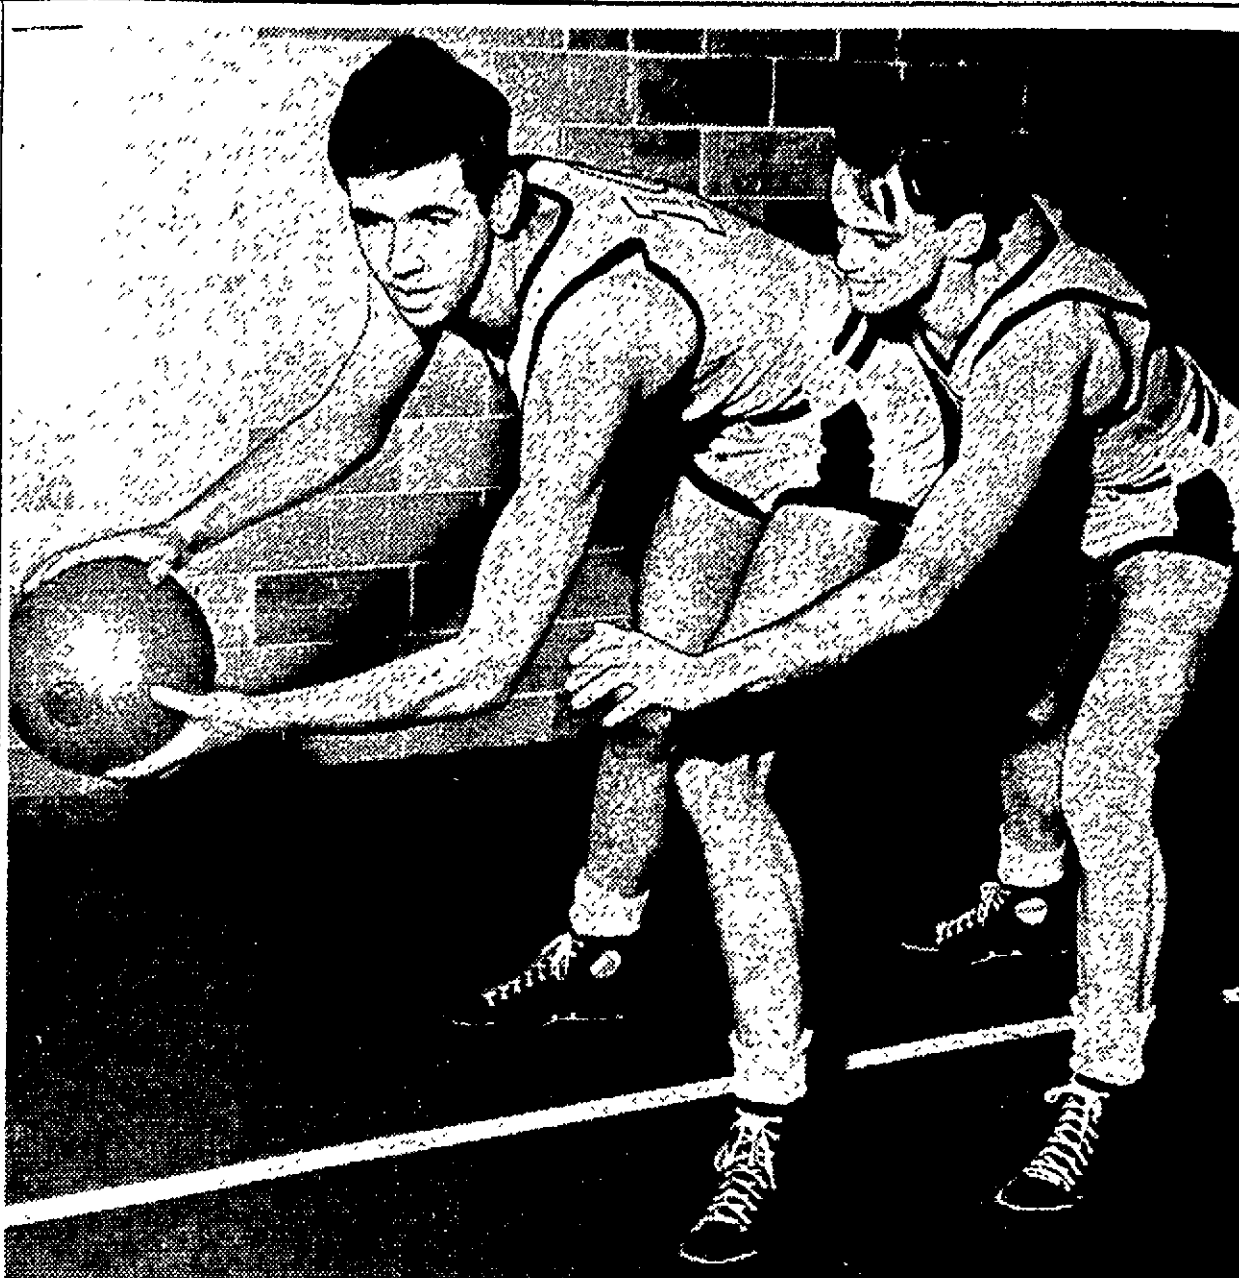

H. Debauler rolled 213 and 577, and Bob Joyce 217 as Pittsburgh took all three from Princeton, led by Appertman who bowled 205 and 535 and Tonnell who turned in a 200 game.

Harvard pounded to a 3-game conquest of Columbia, with the following outstanding scores: J. Plank, 205, 200, 585; St. Staidl, 204; H. Seidel, 224; G. Schmidt, 200, 219. The Harvard bowlers turned in the best team marks, 982 for game and 2,847 for match. Scaerfer's 545 series was highest in the Columbia column.

John Hantschel chucked a 207 game and 535 series and E. Fernal a 203 as Notre Dame won all three from Fordham. For the losers, E. Schrage hit a 535 series.

4 Church League Games Are Scheduled Tonight

Church league teams will swing into action at Armory G tonight with Evangelical and St. Theresa teams showing at 6:30. Sacred Heart and Mt. Olive squads at 7:30. St. Mary and St. Joseph quints at 8:30 and B'nai B'rith and Congregational aggregations at 9:30. League officials will meet at 7:30 Tuesday evening, Jan. 17, at the Y. M. C. A. to draw the second half schedule and review first half problems. Finances and a hall for the second round will be discussed.

APPLETON MEN ON VIKE CAGE SQUAD

Believe Ruppert Made Provisions For Club Future

Think Triumvirate Will Guide Champion N. Y. Yankees

NEW YORK—(P)—The sports world wondered today what effect the death of Colonel Jacob Ruppert would have on the world champion New York Yankees—the baseball club he helped buy for $500,000 in 1915 and built into a $15,000,000 enterprise.

In most quarters it was assumed that the energetic little bachelor who died yesterday at the age of 71 had made ample provision for the future of the baseball empire that brought him more satisfaction than the millions he made in beer and real estate.

The best bet seemed to be that a triumvirate would rule baseball's most valuable property—a triumvirate of Ed Barrow, 70, veteran manager of the Yankees, George Weiss, head of the Yankees' "farm" system, and George Ruppert, the colonel's brother.

Heavy Taxes
Officials estimated that, if Colonel Ruppert's net estate totals $70,000,000—associates said he was worth between $70,000,000 and $100,000,000—the federal and state governments would take all but about $12,000,000 in taxes. Whether this would have any effect on the future of the baseball properties was not determined.

Funeral services for the colonel will be held Monday morning in St. Ignace's church with a solemn requiem mass.

Burial services afterward in the Ruppert family mausoleum in Kensico cemetery in Westchester county will be private.

Among the honorary pallbearers will be Albert Brennan, the colonel's executive secretary; Joe McCarthy, manager of the Yankees; Mayor LaGuardia, former Governor Alfred E. Smith, Senator Robert F. Wagner, and several baseball and business friends.

MENASHA — Neenah's rangy Red Rockets scored a 34 to 21 victory over Menasha Friday night in the Menasha High school gymnasium to keep close on the heels of Shawano in the Northeastern Wisconsin conference race. The Red Rockets had a hard time winning, clinching the decision with a drive that opened just before the end of the third quarter and scored 16 points in 9 minutes.

The veteran Neenah team carried too many guns for Menasha's smaller squad and fight and determination fell before the speed and accurate passing of Neenah. Two bad quarters spelled defeat for the Bluejays.

Peterson, Neenah forward, got a late start in scoring but poured in four field goals and a free throw to the Warren Kettering for top honors. Kettering counted three field goals and three free throws before collecting his fourth personal.

Landkron Stars
Heavy Henry Landkron, 210-pound Menasha forward, starred for the Bluejays. He outjumped the lanky Neenah men to smother more than his share of rebounds. He also collected five points but missed on five free throws. Earl Block also counted five points for the Jays while Larry Zelinski was the high Menasha scorer with three field goals.

The first quarter was close with Neenah early taking a 10 to 0 lead on Peterson's free throw and Hesselman's field goal. Block put the Jays on the board with a free throw but Landkron missed on two gift shots. Kettering then made one of two gift attempts and then added another on Block's second foul to put Neenah ahead 5 to 1.

Landkron came up from under the basket for a goal and Anderson pushed in a rebound to tie the score at 5-all with 5 minutes gone. That was the closest the Bluejays came to taking the lead all night.

Warren Kettering then took a shot from out where no player has shot business shooting and made it. Landkron made it 7 to 6 on a free throw but Hesselman counted two free throws on Landkron's foul. Harry Zelinski counted on a rebound to make the score 9 to 8 but missed the free throw when fouled by Schmidt. Resch missed on W. Kettering's foul just before the end of the quarter.

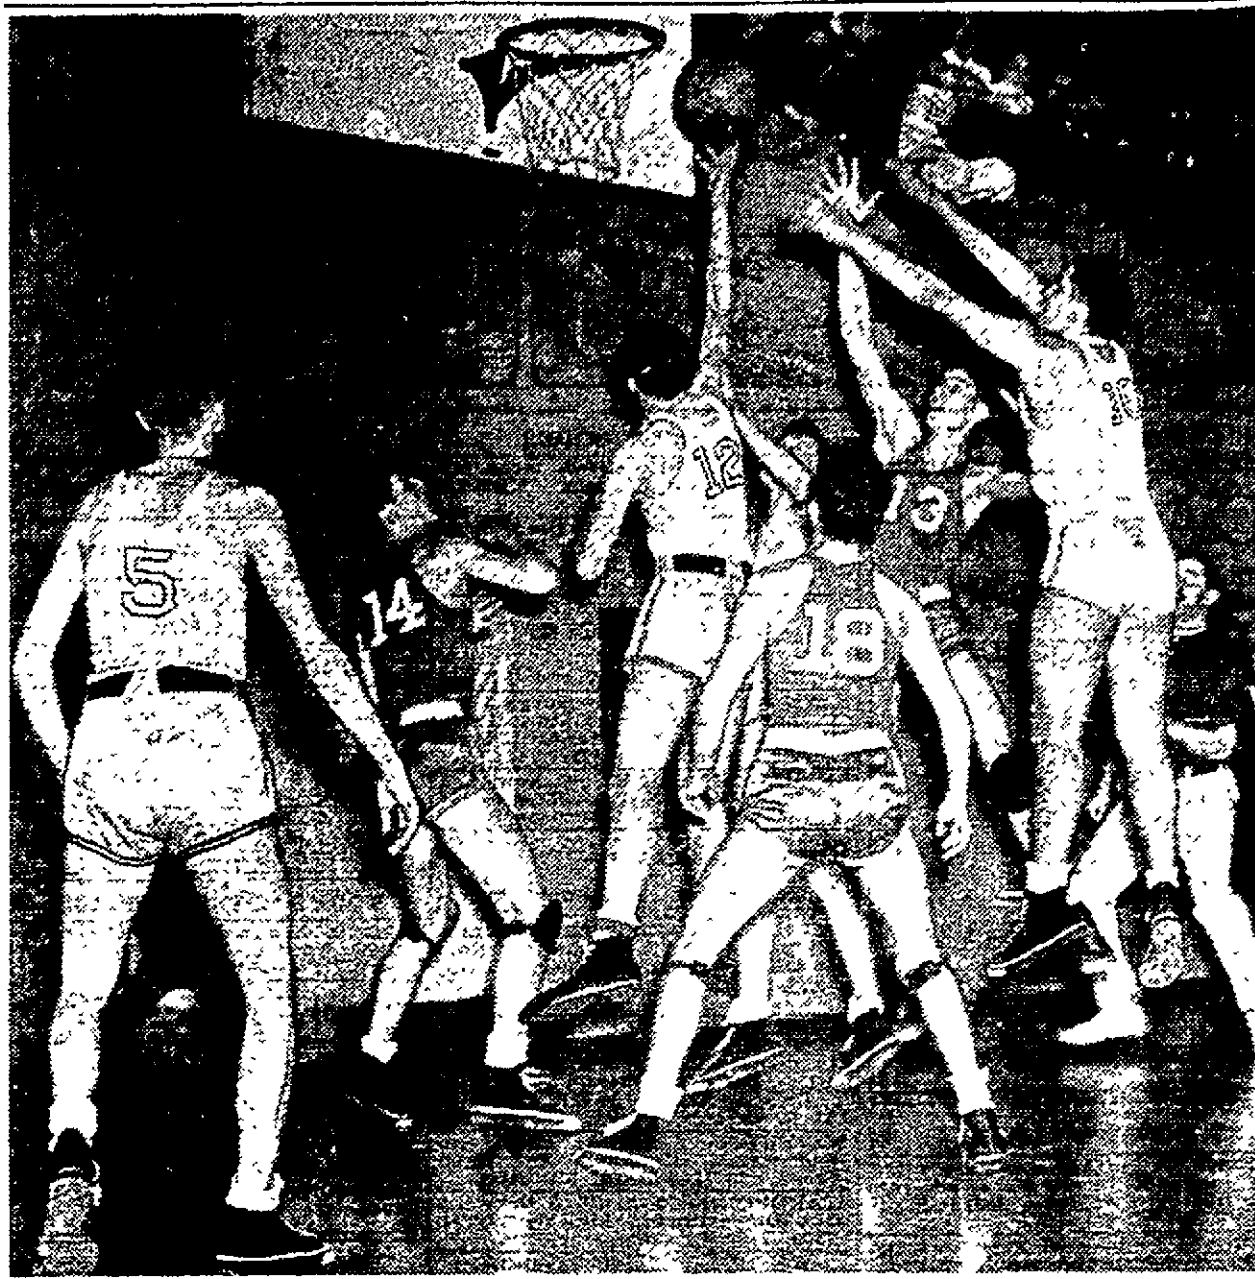

Held Scoreless
The Bluejays were held without a point during the entire second quarter while Neenah counted six points. Peterson, Hesselman and Schmidt scored field goals for Neenah while W. Kettering had a free throw during the period. Menasha had two chances from the free throw line but missed both. The Neenah passing attack clicked during the period and the Menasha guards were unable to keep pace with the Red Rockets' fast breaks.

Although they trailed 16 to 8 at the start of the second half, the Bluejays rallied to make a game of it. Landkron opened the scoring with a short goal and Harry Zelinski evaded his guard on a pivot shot. Buxton Kettering broke into the scoring with a set shot to make the count 18 to 12.

The Jays continued their drive on O'Brien's basket from close in and a free throw by Block. Neenah once more took command a minute before the end of the quarter with W. Kettering scoring on a hook shot and Schmidt pushing in a rebound to make the score 22 to 15.

Neenah Gets Hot
Peterson broke fast on a jump ball at the opening of the final quarter for a score and W. Kettering flashed under the basket to take a pass and ring up another goal. A free throw by Earl Block was followed by a goal by Peterson. Block came through with a field goal for the Jays to make the score 23 to 18.

Neenah continued to run up the score. Peterson intercepted a pass directly under the Menasha basket for a goal and Schmidt broke fast on another jump ball to count his third goal. Hesselman added the final Neenah points on a set shot.

NEENAH BEATS MENASHA HIGH BY 34 TO 21

SHAWANO WINS
DePere Shawano High school Indians, completing the first half of their schedule in the Western division of the Northeastern Wisconsin conference here last night with a victory over West DePere Black Phantoms, 37 to 20, looked back on a record of six straight wins.

With Bill Reed, Urban Gottschalk and Franklin Schaevers doing the shooting, and Gottschalk blocking the Phantoms' offensive efforts, the Indians moved into an 8-2 lead in the opening quarter and never were headed. The Phantoms split in the second quarter and left the floor on the short end of a 14 to 10 score at half-time. The fight was nip and tuck in the third quarter, which ended, 27 to 20, but the Indians cut loose again in the fourth quarter and scored 10 points while holding the Phantoms scoreless.

The box score:

	Shawano	West DePere
Reed	12	10
Gottschalk	10	10
Schaevers	10	10

JOE STARK rattled a 238 game and A. Meyer slammed a 637 series for top individual marks and paced Miller High Life keepers to high team scores of 1,078 and 3,044.

Miller High Life took two games from Unmuth Drugs with Meyer combining scores of 224 and 226 for his big series. Stark rolling 580, Nehls whipping 203 and 225 and Kintzele grooving 213. High for the losers was Schneider with a 614 triple on singles of 222 and 203, Heinritz with 223 and Grimmer with 221.

Johnson Hatters forged into the lone league lead when they proved to be the only quint who could turn a 3-game trick during matches at Arcade alleys last night. Dr. M. Goeres paced the winners against Al's Tavern with a 216 game and 585 series while Kolb showed 204. Tops for the losing five was L. Vander Velden with a 549 total.

Drop Two Games
Johnson Shoe Rebuilders slipped out of a first place tie when they dropped two games to Schuessler Weather Strips. G. Schuessler spearheaded the winners' attack with a 224 game and 579 series and D. Huben added 216. Boite showed 521 for the losers.

Hooks and Tons defeated Wisconsin Distributing Company in two games as N. Brauer scored 533 and R. Johnson hit 211. E. Jennerhump 503 for the losing squad.

Two games went to Clark's Cleaners in a Wenzlaf turned in a 214 single and a 532 series for the winners. J. Fries thumped a 538 total for the losers.

Weyenberg Dairy took two games from Checker Cabs as G. Grimmer combined for a 227 game and 537 series. W. Horn topped 233 and C. Braeger tumbled 212. N. Lyne registered 495 for the losers.

Leath Furniture Company downed Sinclair Oils in two games as W. Terrien shot 497. Caldle tallied 496 for the losers.

Petersen-Rehbein scored a 2-game win over Brandt's V-8 keepers as Selig grooved 494. For the losers, Schmidt had 447.

Kiel at Little Chute For Cage Tilt Sunday

Little Chute — Kiel Merchants cagers will invade St. John's Sunday afternoon to meet the local A. A. squad in the second game of the home and home series. The A. A. copped the first game 29 to 23 at Kiel Wednesday night.

The visitors have added Moersch, speedy Indian guard to their lineup. A clever floor general, he is a sharpshooter with either hand. Krafe, guard, scored four field goals and two gift shots against Little Chute before they could stop him, and the A. A. will have their hands full again Sunday.

With Ory Bockers and Tony Jansen out of their scoring slump, the A. A. should be in strife.

In the preliminary, St. Joseph's of Two Rivers will meet the American team of St. John's high school, starting at 2 o'clock with the A. A. Kiel game starting an hour later.

BY GORDON MCINTYRE
APPLETON HIGH school cagers all but bowed out of the Fox River Valley conference race here last night when they dropped a 23 to 19 decision to Oshkosh. The defeat left the Terrors with two wins against three defeats and Oshkosh with four wins and one defeat and tied for the conference lead.

Oshkosh was hardly a sensational club last evening and that's what makes the defeat hard to take. The Appleton defense harassed the Indians regularly and even when the locals erred by permitting a man to stand alone in a corner and shoot, the shots weren't so good.

Although the Terrors handled the ball like a hot potato and got off lazy and sometimes indifferent passes, they still were under the basket enough times to have won easily—if they could shoot. That seems to be the squad's biggest difficulty.

In the same category are numerous instances where the players failed to make efforts to shoot. For instance, both the guards put on blocks that took care of sometimes two men, but all too often the man with the ball couldn't decide to pass, shoot or dribble. Whether the inability to can the ball has become an obsession with some of the boys and they won't even attempt a shot unless under the hoop, is your guess as well as someone else's.

Change Lineup
Coach Joseph Shields started a revised lineup but it failed to break the spell of shots. Bill Burton drew a starting assignment at forward and John Bick at center. Burton, like most sophomores, was too cautious and could have shot often. Bick, idle much of the season, was too slow on his efforts under the hoop. Fraser was the other starting forward but started only defensively. Bailey and Morris were the two guards.

Oshkosh offered Shadd at center but his height was about the only advantage. Roth and Bixby at the guards and Stange and James at the forwards were main boys but could not handle the ball nicely.

Once when the Terrors threatened in the third period, Erban, tall forward and center, was sent into the game but even then Oshkosh had no decided edge.

The first quarter saw Oshkosh take a 6 to 1 lead. As the game got underway play was almost entirely under the two baskets. First there'd been a tangle lasting a minute or more under the Appleton basket as the Terrors tried to push in followup shots. Oshkosh got the rebound. Then the situation would be reversed. Finally Bixby canned a shot for Oshkosh, added a long toss and Roth dribbled down the side of the court and behind the Terror zone defense and scored.

Lead 17-8 at Half
Oshkosh continued to enjoy a scoring spree in the second period. Appleton counted its first goal as the quarter started when Morris scored after a held ball at the free throw circle. Stange and Bixby threw for Oshkosh and James a goal. The latter intercepted one of Appleton's indifferent passes and left the Terrors trailing in his wake as he counted.

The Indians then added a free throw and James canned a long shot to make the score 12 to 3. Buesing gave Appleton a free throw and Stange gave Oshkosh a field goal after which Appleton spurred for a few minutes. During the interval Buesing scored a goal and Buesing dropped another after some wild passing in and around the vicinity of the hoop. Just before the quarter ended Erban, playing center in place of Shadd, was fouled by Buesing as he shot. He made the basket and then the free throw and the half ended 17 to 8 for Oshkosh.

Appleton played its best ball in the third quarter when it scored eight points and held Oshkosh to two free throws. Fraser followed up a shot to open scoring for the Terrors. Then Buesing dropped one from the corner and Morris made a free throw and the score stood 19 to 13 for the Indians. Oshkosh got two free throws at this stage and Burton dropped one for Appleton. Near the end of the quarter Resch scored after Appleton's best passing effort of the evening. The rest found the score 19 to 15 for Oshkosh.

Oshkosh opened the final quarter with Roth getting a bucket and when Shadd set a followup on a play that left a corner. Oshkosh led 23 to 17. With two minutes to go, Morris sank a basket for Appleton but Oshkosh managed to control the ball most of the remaining seconds.

The game brought considerable heaving of official decisions and most of the squawks were uncalled for. There were several flagrant violations which the arbiters didn't

Kaws Win as Clintonville Gets 13 Points on Friday the 13th

BY JAMES BOHR
CLINTONVILLE — Friday the thirteenth meant little to the Kaukauna High school basketball team last night as they romped over the Clintonville quintet 33 to 13. However, the old superstition did reach out and held the Clints to only 13 points. Play was ragged on both sides and the ball was being at random during the greater share of the game. The game was rough and 24 fouls were called.

Clintonville was confined to four points in the first half, all of them garnered on free throws. The Kaws on the other hand added up seven buckets and two gift shots to give them 16 points at the end of the half. Thirteen hit the Clints again in regard to free throws having thirteen chances and converting on five. Kaukauna had 14 chances at the free throw line and made five.

Ranquette High Scorer
"Wee Willie" — Ranquette turned out to be the high scorer of the night with six baskets for 12 points. Don Bislax took second honors with 3 buckets and a free throw for seven markers. Ozzie Goerlinger took the laurels for the Clints with five points on two baskets and a gift shot. Jim Billmeyer and Jack Martin followed each with a basket and a free throw. Lyle Roloff was the other member of the squad who broke into the scoring with two charity tosses.

The game opened with Don Bislax, dumping in a set shot from the side. Lyle Roloff came back for the hapless Clintonville five and kept the game close with a free throw but lanky Bill Alger added two free throws and a shot under the basket to put the Kaws ahead 6 to 1 at the end of the first quarter.

Kaukauna added frequently to this total during the rest of the game and at the end of the third quarter they had tripled the Clints' score 22 to 7. It was at this point that Ranquette got hot and scored three successive baskets in rapid fire order.

In the preliminary game Kaukauna made easy work of the Clintonville B's disposing of them 23 to 12.

New York—Stocks took rallying nourishment in today's market and leading issues lacked up gains of fractions to more than two points at the best.

While buying interest was relative light—transfers for the two hours were around 500,000 shares—pivotal steels, motors, aircrafts and rails were favored.

Bullion of the home of representation in the $150,000,000 from the president's WPA spending program seemed to please Wall street, notwithstanding some thought the new economy shift might be a bit "deflationary." It was remarked, though, that "it cannot be overlooked that $725,000,000 is still a large appropriation." Realization also was present that government funds would expand for armaments and other projects sufficient to keep the "inflation" pot boiling.

Lessening of war talk, following the Anglo-Italian conference, was seen as a buying influence for the lately shaky market. Although the apparently brought no specific agreement, the financial district believed the peace trend was more pronounced than otherwise.

Steels were given a lift despite forecasts in some quarters next week's mill operations may undergo another slight downward revision.

The theory the aircrafts may have been oversold aside aviation stocks. Rails were taken in hand on revived hopes congress would pass legislation to remedy carrier ill.

Bonds and commodities trailed stocks to a lesser extent.

Week-end Digest of Business Activity In Appleton and Vicinity

Homes Cheerful After Treatment By William Nehls

Offers Wide Range of Wallpapers in New-est Designs

Hundreds of families this winter are enjoying the comfort of a restful, cheerful, smart home because attention was given last summer or early fall regarding certain dull, depressing room. Smart, new wall papers of breath-taking beauty, bright interior decorating of walls, ceilings and woodwork, varnishing and staining of floors are perhaps the main reason why their homes present today a more livable and inviting appearance.

The cheerfulness or dullness of the rooms of your house is entirely in your own hands, explains the William Nehls Company, 226 W. Washington street, well-known paint and wall paper store and decorators. Suppose you have a room which is cold and dreary in the wintertime. You need only look over Nehls' smart line of Imperial washable, wallpapers and select the pattern and color which will allow the chill light to stream in through the window and reflect on warm colored walls. Suppose you delight in the thought of a gay mood on a gray day. You again may create, through application of suitable wall paper or paint, a warm glow which is certain to make a big difference in the general appearance and atmosphere of any room of your home.

Wallpaper and paints, have been the business of the William Nehls Company for over 30 years. The Nehls firm is offering again this year an unusually large stock of wallpaper, all smart, new washable patterns, prepared to take care of ever decorating need.

If it is painting you are interested in, this reliable firm offers the

Furs at Savings From One-Third to One-Half Draw Women to Kriecks

"Think of it," exclaim women who have visited the exciting "clear the deck sale" at Krieck Furs, 220 E. College avenue, "you can buy a gorgeous Krieck fur coat at a saving of from one-half to one-third!"

This, it happens, is precisely the case, because all of Krieck's stock of beautiful fur coats has been reduced by these startling amounts. Silver fox and blue fox capes, scarfs and boleros are being sold at just half their original prices.

"For prices like these just don't repeat," warn Krieck's, who will be glad to bring a selection of furs to the home of any interested customer. Whether seen at home or at the store, however, there is no obligation to buy. Krieck's telephone number is 1078.

Mink Being Reared by Fremont Cheesemaker

Fremont — George Ertl, Fremont cheesemaker, is rearing mink. He has 12 females and four males at the present time. They are housed in outdoor pens in individual screened cages on his property and are fed once a day with ground food of muskrat carcasses, cereals, tomatoes and carrots, during the winter and fresh ground fish in the summer. Mr. Ertl already has sold a few pelts at $15 each. A few mink and rabbits are also reared by Dr. Walter Neuschaefer and Thaxter Kinsman in pens at their homes.

complete line of famous Benjamin Moore paints and varnishes. You will find a Moore paint for every purpose, Nehls explain, that is dependable, time-proved, and made of lasting ingredients to assure long and satisfactory life. A call to 432 is all that is necessary to bring a representative to your home for a free estimate of your wallpaper or painting needs.

Says Coolerator First to Meet All Phases of Problem

Lutz Company Makes Special Free Ice Offer To Customers

Not until Coolerator was invented was any real progress made in solving the refrigeration problem of having not only cold air, which any refrigerator is able to give, but also washed, humidified, circulated air, the Lutz Ice Company, Coolerator retailers, explain.

Coolerator, the Lutz Ice Company continues, was the first refrigerator on the market to offer the now popular patented airconditioning chamber. With this amazing invention Coolerator is made up to meet this all-important refrigeration problem.

As a result, air in the food chamber of this patented refrigerator is constantly washed, purified, and is circulated several times each minute, maintaining in addition, the necessary steady, uniform, cold temperature. No dangerous chemicals are present to cause worry or trouble, and no intricate machinery is in its construction that may break down just when refrigeration protection may be needed most.

Instead of having a makeshift arrangement of some type or a gadget in one small corner of the food chamber to keep foods and vegetables fresh, the whole food chamber of the Coolerator, Lutz' explain, is provided with the kind of cold, humidified air that will never rob them of their natural juices and flavor. Because of this steady, continuous circulation of air what excess food odors (such as cheese, onions, etc.) which might taint butter and milk are constantly removed so there is much less danger of tainting.

In addition to these many advantages the big, outstanding argument for Coolerator from original cost clear through all the years of its service is of course, economy. You will be surprised if you are not already acquainted with Coolerator's wide range of models and prices, just how inexpensive are even the largest models.

For crystal pure-manufactured ice service, or a 10-day free trial of a new Coolerator with free ice service until March 1, 1939, or a ton of its fine, high quality coal or coke, you need only telephone number 2, the Lutz Ice Company.

Clarence Koehler Is Elected Chairman at Meeting at Church

Fremont — Christ Lutheran congregation, West Bloomfield, has elected the following officers: Chairman, Clarence Koehler; vice chairman, O. A. Boelter; church deacon, John Radich; school deacon, Edward Wendt; treasurer, Paul Timm; trustee, Walter Bucholtz; janitor, Henry Baehman.

German and English services will be conducted at St. Paul's Lutheran church at 9:30 and at 10:45 Sunday morning.

German services will be held at 10 o'clock Sunday morning at Christ Lutheran church, West Bloomfield.

Mrs. George Dobbins entertained her bridge club Wednesday evening. Three tables were in play. Prizes were won by Mrs. H. E. Redemann Mrs. Ray Looker and Mrs. Edwin Sherburne.

Mapmakers Get Dizzy Keeping Up Changes

Chicago—(AP)—A mapmaker's life today is one jigsaw puzzle after another.

Never before in history, with the possible exception of the Treaty of Versailles days, have the men and women who keep maps up-to-date been so busy.

"History has stepped up its pace so that a world map is passe in a year," said Helmut Day, assistant manager of the cartography department of Rand McNally and company, widely-known publisher of maps.

Kaministiquia, Ont. —(AP)—Taisto Pesola, three and one-half years old, is some fisherman. He caught a mink in the "Kam" river with a baited hook. It was a large one.

Capacity Crowd Attends Eastern Star Induction

Waupaca—A capacity crowd was seated at the 6:30 dinner which preceded the annual installation ceremonies of the Eastern Star Wednesday evening.

The turkey dinner, at which covers were laid for 150, was served by the Ladies Aid society of the Methodist church in the club rooms of the Masonic temple. Bouquets of gladiolus decorated the centers while lighted candles and branches of Austrian pine in birch logs were spaced at intervals down the long lines of tables. Music was furnished by an orchestra under the direction of Prof. Ernest Weber.

The regular business session of the order preceded installation with a concluding farewell service by the worthy matron, the officers retiring in form with lighted tapers.

Past Worthy Grand Patron Horace Johnston of Portage was the installing officer and was assisted by Marion Darling, installing chaplain, Linda Teisberg, installing marshal, and Gertrude Knudsen, installing organist. Others who assisted in the ceremonies were Gertrude Diercks as Bible bearer, Evelyn Rawson and Isabel Saian as candle bearers; installing marshal, Margaret Rudersdorf and pages, June Dunkley, Olen Meier, Stella Lee and Marie Larson. Soloist for the evening, was Myrtle Baehner. Past matrons held-

Is Piano 'King of Instruments'? Magazine Shows Merit of Guitar

"The argument has been advanced, with a cleverly concealed commercial intent, by piano manufacturers and teachers of this instrument that, in so many words, the piano is the King of all musical instruments. The impression, therefore, has rapidly gained ground in uninformed circles, due to subtle advertising methods, that it is necessary to study the piano first before you can really be a successful performer on any other musical instrument. By a cleverly organized system of propaganda, John G. Public, is being educated to the erroneous impression that the piano is the foundation of all correct musical training. This is all very well from a sales standpoint but when viewed in the merciless spotlight of actual facts is decidedly erroneous.

"A proper foundation in music depends upon the teacher, not upon the instrument upon which the pupil is taking lessons. In the past ten years there has been a decided decline in the sale of pianos and a decided increase to the contrary in the sale of guitars, and furthermore a decided increase in the number of capable players on this last named instrument. If the piano were the necessary foundation instrument, how could piano sales decrease and guitar players increase both as to numbers and ability at one and the same time.

"The number of pianos sold in the United States is far larger per capita than those sold in Europe; yet it is a known fact that on the average there are in Europe far more accomplished musicians on other types of instruments (with the exception of the guitar) than in America. The manipulation of a piano keyboard has no particular value in training the fingers for the playing of a guitar; neither does it train anyone in a sense of true pitch or the particular ability to hear mentally that music which he reads on the printed page. This kind of training is provided in the elementary public schools in note-singing and ear-training courses. Therefore, when anyone tells you that you have to first study piano before taking guitar lessons, determine if he owns any stock in a piano factory or if he has relatives or friends who teach piano. If your child is going to be a guitar player, start him on guitar.

"There are thousands of these foundation instruments with their strings rusted away and miced nibbling at the felt hammers which can be bought for almost the price of carting them away, but you will find there are very few guitars in the possession of the public that are not in actual use. Is the Piano the King of Instruments?"

This editorial was furnished by the Van Zeeland Music company, 106 N. Oneida street, headquarters for guitarists and guitar students.
